

Rebrin Case May Test John D's Bill of Rights

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Supreme Court of Canada hearing of the Irene Rebrin case could become the testing ground for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Bill of Rights.

At least, that's what lawyers for the attractive blonde lecturer were hoping Tuesday after another setback in their attempts to stop her deportation from Canada.

In a unanimous decision, three judges of the British Columbia Court of Appeal dismissed Miss Rebrin's appeal against a B.C. Supreme Court decision in favor of the deportation.

However, the judge agreed to hear an application by Miss Rebrin next Tuesday for leave to appeal their findings to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Gordon Dowling, CCF member of the legislature and one of the lawyers representing 33-year-old Miss Rebrin, said he hopes the Bill of Rights—now before Parliament—will be passed before the case reaches Ottawa.

"It may well be that the bill will somewhat alter this case if it carries the weight that the government says is intended," he said.

The appeal court judges—Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard and Mr. Justice J. M. Coady—held that the Immigration Act does not give Miss Rebrin at least one right claimed by her counsel.

Dr. M. C. Shumatcher of Regina argued in a three-day court hearing last month that Miss Rebrin should have been given the right to challenge evidence on which Immigration Minister Fairclough had obviously based dismissal of Miss Rebrin's appeal to the department.

He said statements in the House of Commons by the minister, who said Miss Rebrin was a security risk, made it apparent that such evidence existed.

Now Rocky Likes Nixon

Grin-and-bear-it-smile following his final withdrawal from Republican presidential nomination race yesterday turned into "grin-and-wear-it-smile" as New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller pinned on king-size Nixon button to support the vice-president, his one-time foe in contest for top spot. —(AP Photofax.)

Rocky Joins Nixon Camp

CHICAGO (CP)—Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller threw in the sponge and formally joined the Nixon-for-president camp Tuesday, carrying his 96-vote New York delegation to the vice-president.

The action eliminates any question of effective competition for the Republican presidential nomination and any doubt that the 47-year-old Nixon will become the party's presidential nominee on the Republican national convention's first ballot tonight.

Rockefeller, whose strong-minded views and determination to ram them through the convention was the major enlivening aspect of this meeting, said he reached his decision to back Nixon with the conviction that the convention's platform committee would adopt the basic philosophy of the agreement which he and Nixon mapped out together in New York last week-end.

Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, leader of the right-wing faction, bitterly condemned Rockefeller's persistence on Negro rights, saying Rockefeller would ruin the Republican party.

Rockefeller calmly replied that Goldwater's remarks showed how small minds think.

Helping Hand

Ottawa Backs Cartels

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government proposed Tuesday to lend a willing hand to the formation of cartels and combines by Canadian companies trying to boost their export trade.

Viewing the move as absolutely necessary if Canada is to compete successfully with the Communist state-trading agencies, Justice Minister Fulton told the commons that if Canadian firms remain within the right to organize in export business they will be at an "increasing and permanent" disadvantage.

NOT TO CONVICT

The government move took the form of a proposed amendment to its anti-combines amendments, already before the commons. In effect, it tells the Canadian courts not to convict companies in cases where conspiracies and combines deal only with articles for export.

However, a second part of the proposed amendment makes it clear that the export conspirators will lose their anti-combines immunity if their deals result in a reduction of export volume, hurt a domestic competitor or restrict the entry of other companies to their field of business.

At the same time, the government's platform committee would adopt the basic philosophy of the agreement which he and Nixon mapped out together in New York last week-end.

JOSEPH SMALLWOOD

Blunt Exchange Re-Opens Feud

OTTAWA (CP)—A new outbreak of the long-standing feud between Newfoundland and Ottawa Tuesday pitted Premier Joseph Smallwood against federal Finance Minister Fleming in a bluntly-worded exchange.

Pointing frequently down the Dominion-Provincial Conference table at Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the Liberal premier accused the federal government of repudiating a constitutional promise made when Newfoundland entered Confederation in 1949.

NOT OUTDONE

Mr. Fleming, not outdone in plain speaking, maintained that the federal government fulfilled and even went beyond the promises given Newfoundland.

Premier Smallwood said the federal move "appears to Newfoundland to be the most flagrant repudiation of a solemn constitutional agreement known to Canadian history."

RIGHT AND FAIR

Mr. Fleming said "it remained a matter for decision by the Parliament of Canada; and the parties (to the agreement) felt that the Parliament of Canada could be trusted to do what was right and fair."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia entered the fray briefly in the role of peacemaker to suggest that once agreement is reached for assistance after 1962 the federal government should appoint another royal commission to see that the agreement is carried out.

Sky Spy Charge Rejected by UN; Reds Veto Probe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council Tuesday night rejected the latest Soviet spy-plane accusation against the United States. The Russians in turn vetoed an American demand for an impartial international investigation of the RB-47 plane incident.

The 9-to-2 vote of the 11-nation council against the Russian demand for council condemnation of the U.S. followed a vigorous American attack accusing the Soviet Union of attempting to spy on missile and other military secrets off the coasts of the U.S.

ONLY POLAND

Only Communist Poland voted with the Russians.

The Soviet Union also used its big-power veto privilege to kill a resolution to permit international Red Cross contact with two U.S. Air Force men held captive by the Russians since the downing of the American RB-47 plane by a Russian fighter plane July 1.

The Soviet Union cast its 8th and 89th veto in its history as a Security Council member.

DEBATE CLIMAX

The climax of the debate came when Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate to the UN, accused the Soviet Union of a long series of air and sea spy incidents, including an attempt to seize the test vehicle of a Polaris missile fired by a nuclear submarine off the Atlantic coast.

Lodge reserved his bitterest words, however, for the Soviet veto of an Italian resolution which would have called upon the Red Cross to make contact with the survivors of the RB-47. Two of the survivors are captives, three are listed as missing, and one died in the incident.

SAD THING

"That was a compassionate resolution," Lodge said, "and they turned it down. I tell you, it is a sad thing when a people as warm hearted as the Soviet people is represented by a government as cold-hearted, brutal, hard and cynical as they showed themselves to be tonight."

Meanwhile, in Vancouver the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has charged B. R. Miller, manager of the circus, with cruelty to animals.

Ike Dares Russia

CHICAGO (UPI)—President Eisenhower last night challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to a test of communism against democracy by holding free elections in every country of the world.

Eisenhower told the Republican National Convention that the Kremlin was flagrantly misrepresenting facts and bringing on one crisis after another in recent months, including missile threats.

EARLY CONFERENCE

The president said that he plans an early conference with congressional leaders of both parties on these recent events.

Subjects for discussion, he said, will include the wrecking of the Paris summit conference and Russia's shooting down of an American RB-47 bomber over international waters.

Eisenhower then hurled his challenge at Khrushchev: "The Soviet dictator has said that he has, in his recent journeys and speeches, succeeded in damaging the prestige of America."

MAKE THIS TEST

"Concerning this matter of comparative national prestige, I challenge him to make this test: Will he agree to the holding of free elections under the sponsorship of the United Nations—to permit people everywhere—in every nation and on every continent, to vote on one single, simple issue?"

"That issue is: Do you want to live under a Communist regime or under a free system such as found in the United States?"

WORLD PRESTIGE

"Are the Soviets willing to measure their world prestige by the results of such elections?"

"The United States would gladly do so."

Eisenhower, who received a tumultuous welcome from a crowd of 1,000,000 Chicagoans earlier on his arrival in the city where he was first nominated eight years ago, had some blunt and hard words for those who have criticized the American defence effort.

STRONGEST POWER

"In the sum of our capabilities we have become the strongest military power on earth," Eisenhower said.

"But just as Job and his boils, so we have a cult of professional pessimists who, taking counsel of their fears, continually mouth the allegation that America has become a second-rate military power."

"This extraordinary assertion amazes our friends in the world who know better; it even bewilders many of our own people who have examined our seven and half year record of military expansion and who are not used to hearing their gigantic defence efforts so belittled."

WITHIN MINUTES

Eisenhower said the United States has a jet bomber fleet prepared to take off within minutes and backed by a whole family of intermediate and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Little Boy, 'Parents' Gone

WINNIPEG (CP)—City police were asked by the Children's Aid Society late Tuesday afternoon to help locate a five-year-old boy and his foster parents who were not at home when authorities visited their residence to put the youngster up for adoption.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hallas have been caring for the Roman Catholic boy for the society since he was nine months old. Against the protests of the family, the society decided to take the boy from the Hallas family, who are Protestants, and allow a Roman Catholic family to adopt him.

STATEMENT MADE

Harry Yanofsky, counsel for the society, made the following statement Tuesday afternoon:

"Efforts are being made to locate the Hallas. Then we'll remove the child with the assistance of the police. If necessary we'll get a warrant for the police to execute if they won't co-operate with us."

Circus Truck Crashes in B.C.

Escaped Leopard Shot as It Charges Trapped Man

MERRITT, B.C. (CP)—A leopard that escaped from a crashed circus truck with four other large cats was shot Tuesday as it charged a truck driver trapped in a gully.

James Webb, the driver, had chased the animal in a gully with several other men armed with nets.

When the animal leaped at Webb, circus owner Dory R.

Miller of Hugo, Okla., shot and Webb was not hurt.

A wounded lioness which escaped after being shot in the paw and face was later encircled in a grove and killed by a bullet from a police gun.

Two tigers and one lion were prodded back into cages by circus workers with sharpened poles.

The circus was the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. which toured Vancouver Island this month.

Glen Jarms, a circus employee, said the lioness had a bullet hole through her right front paw and buckshot pellets in her face and nose when she escaped.

She was shot when she tried to attack one of the escaped tigers. Her two cubs remained by the 45-foot-long tractor-trailer when it overturned near the top of six-mile Hambleton Hill. They were not injured.

Three men riding in the truck were injured, two of them seriously, when they jumped from the cab moments before the vehicle overturned in a ditch.

In serious condition in Nicola Valley General Hospital were David Luther and Earl Nichols. No report was made on the condition of the third man, Edward Schulz.

Cages holding a baby lion, two hyenas and a mountain lion remained intact but the others broke open on impact. Jarms said the brakes on the truck apparently failed as it descended the hill. Damage to the vehicle and the dead leopard is estimated by Jarms at about $25,000 to $30,000.

A second circus truck was in an earlier accident on the same hill. The truck jackknifed and plunged into a ditch. The driver was not injured.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has charged B. R. Miller, manager of the circus, with cruelty to animals.

The circus played in the suburban areas of Burnaby, New Westminster and Richmond last week.

SPCA director Tom Hughes said the circus failed to provide adequate accommodations for its animals.

"It's the worst case of its kind I've ever seen," he said. "They had three bears crammed into a cage only six feet square and a hippo was crated in a cage just a little larger than the animal itself."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Hal Holbrook in "Mark Twain Tonight" is worth a trip to the Vancouver Festival.

He'll be there tonight, tomorrow and Friday, an actor aged 34 years who has slipped into the identity of a white-haired old man from Missouri as anyone might slip into a cast-off suit.

HOLBROOK AS TWAIN

For the best part of two hours he lounges about the stage of Vancouver's International Cinema in a cloud of cigar smoke, holding the audience all by himself—making them laugh and making them sit in fascinated silence.

I didn't expect such good entertainment, when I went in. Mark Twain in person, yes. I would have gone a long way to see him, if I had been born early enough. But somebody pretending to be Mark Twain, and quoting bits from his books and speeches? The idea didn't excite me.

It wasn't like that. The figure on the stage didn't seem to be an actor, but a shrewd old man from the 19th-century South, a rustic of superb wit and insight who talked to a theatre full of people in the tone he might have used for a group of cronies in the pilot-house of a Mississippi steamboat.

He talked and moved the way an old man does—a lively, irreverent and mischievous old man. I can't say from personal observation, of course, whether he was a good copy of Mark Twain.

Slicker Than Life

However, there still are people alive who saw Mark Twain in person, and they testify that Holbrook is not only just as good as the original, but better.

This is just a tongue-in-cheek way of saying that a skilled actor, by earnest study and by careful timing, can produce a facsimile that is larger and slicker than life.

Some of the material—newly minted in Samuel Clemens' day, when the great humorist was his own gag writer, producer, director and comedian, all rolled into one—has suffered from being much repeated and edited since.

But most of it wears well. It has the kind of depth and warmth that lasts. I get the feeling that the original Twain would have no trouble today in landing a television contract.

Holbrook showed us Twain the wit and humorist, Twain the story teller; Twain the social critic and militant agnostic.

Loaded with Meaning

Many of his lightest pieces were loaded with symbolic meaning. Twain was a leader of America's cultural rebellion against the Old World. His leadership showed up clearly in the selection from "Innocents Abroad," in which he portrayed Americans in Europe deliberately baffling a guide:

"Ah—what did you say the gentleman's name was?"

"Christoph Colombo, ze great Christoph Colombo."

"Well, what did he do?"

"Discover America! Discover America! Oh, ze devil!"

"Discover America? No..."

We are from America ourselves. We heard nothing about it. Christoph Colombo—pleasant name—is he dead?"

There, the guide stands for all that is stuffy and pretentious in the Old World. The tourist is the man from a new country rejecting all that, showing contempt for it, and making himself look a trifle foolish in the process.

Belgians to Rescue

Whites in Danger; UN 'Too Slow'

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The Belgians were reported yesterday to have sent paratroopers to the Kasai province town of Tshikapa to protect white settlers threatened by warrior tribes.

The Belgian defence ministry informed United Nations headquarters that 80 paratroopers were dropped in the area some 400 miles southeast of Leopoldville Monday.

The ministry said the action was taken after Belgian military authorities estimated that a UN force move to Tshikapa by road would not arrive in time to protect the Europeans there. It promised that the Belgian troops would be withdrawn as soon as the UN convoy arrived.

According to the Belgian advice, the paratroopers temporarily took over the town of Tshikapa and its airfield.

Fierce Baluba and Lulua tribesmen have been waging war between themselves in the area for almost two years, with a death toll in the hundreds.

This was the first time since trouble erupted in the Congo that the tribesmen have moved against whites. The warring tribes had been kept under control by the Congolese army before it went to pieces in the post-independence chaos of recent weeks.

In Leopoldville, a UN spokesman said the United Nations now has a total of 7,691 troops in the Congo. The spokesman said an additional 1,200 to 1,500 Ethiopians were flying directly into Stanleyville without passing through the UN headquarters in Leopoldville.

Congolese Finance Minister

Pascal Nkayi, meanwhile told a news conference in Leopoldville that a financial development agreement made by Premier Patrice Lumumba with an American group was not valid because the cabinet was not consulted regarding it.

At the United Nations, Lumumba said the agreement was made "only in principle."

DAG HAMMARSKJÖLD

Dag on Way to Congo

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld headed for Belgium, the Congo and South Africa Tuesday night after three days of private talks with Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Lumumba plans to go today to Washington where, an aide said, "we hope he will meet the American authorities." Lumumba has spoken of going to Canada but no plans for this have been made.

Hammarskjöld's first stop was Brussels. He aimed to spend six hours there today in discussions with the Belgian government.

He expected to reach Leopoldville Thursday for an on-the-spot survey of the situation in the troubled Congo, which became independent of Belgium June 30.

He had a last two-hour conference Tuesday with Lumumba who has said Hammarskjöld has promised he will spare no effort to get all Belgian troops out of the Congo.

Rhodesia Toll Grows As Rioting Spreads

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Police bullets killed a Negro Tuesday, raising to seven the death toll in three days of native rioting against a ban on political meetings.

Police opened fire three times during the day in renewed clashes with Negroes but the dead man, described as a looter caught in the act, was the only reported casualty.

A police spokesman said the situation was developing into a military operation. An estimated 250 Negroes have been arrested. Few natives went to work.

Police indicated the six Negroes slain Monday were not killed by law officers. Two were described as looters shot by a merchant. It was presumed the other four also died in the bloody upsurge of rioting, looting and arson that saw about 60 persons hurt, half a dozen beerhalls burned down and a filtration plant wrecked.

The trouble began Sunday with demonstrations against a ban on a meeting of the National Democratic Party, a Negro group which has had several of its leaders arrested.

Meanwhile, Southern Rhodesia's prime minister charged that "certain leaders" of the NDP had planned civil disorders.

Search for Leadership

THE Republican leadership convention this week is the final preliminary to the 1960 United States presidential campaign. Once the GOP has selected its candidate the decks will be cleared and battle will be joined.

Never before has such wide international interest followed the fulfilment of the two American political parties as they have argued their policies and chosen their representatives.

The reasons for this are legion, but hinge mainly on one point: namely that whichever candidate wins the presidency also assumes the mantle of leadership of the Western world. To complicate matters and align them in their true if unpalatable perspective, opinion throughout the Western nations is as split on the present U.S. foreign policy as are the Democrats and the Republicans themselves.

To date only vague hints of forthcoming changes have been dropped by both parties. However it can be assumed that if Mr. Richard Nixon is selected as the Republican candidate, that party will hold to much the same policy as followed by the Eisenhower-Dulles regime. It can also be expected that the Democrats will follow a far more liberal line in world affairs.

On the assumption that Mr. Nixon wins both the Republican nomination and the presidency, he will have the great advantage of his authoritative experience. Conversely he will also have the disadvantage of past association with a foreign policy which latterly has run somewhat short on success and long on misfortune.

Nevertheless it is likely that the Republicans will encounter considerable support by the American electorate in presenting their candidate as a man who knows from first-hand experience how to deal with the Soviet bloc.

On the other hand, Democratic candidate Senator Kennedy, master of organization and sound student of foreign affairs that he is, has had no personal dealings with the enemies of Western civilization. However, to offset this, it is predictable that Mr. Adlai Stevenson, who has built up a wealth of good will and affection around the globe, will never be far from Senator Kennedy's ear as world affairs advisor.

These are the factors which have created such high international interest in the presidential election preliminaries. There is also the unuttered but universal prayer that both candidates have a clear recognition of the world-wide responsibility that goes with the office to which they aspire.

None Too Ready

MILITARY police forces bearing the UN label carry weight. That has been evident in the Gaza strip where the UNEF has kept the peace for the past two years, although one is apt to wonder if they must stay there for ever. It is reinforced by the pacifying effect of the new force sent to strife-torn Congo. At first composed of non-white troops from Ghana, Tunisia, etc., racial last antagonisms are acerbated, contingents from white nations are now taking part. Canada is reported to be preparing to add to the number.

It is perhaps an ironic commentary of its own that the UN's peace forces are drawn from the lesser powers. This is probably something never contemplated when the world body was set up, the major powers doubtless supposing that any international police work would be theirs. As it has turned out the effective intermediaries are those from the minor member states, simply because these represent nations without axes to grind in the cold war. As a corollary it begins to look as though more and more the medium and smaller powers will increase their influence at the UN, having earned a bigger say because of their field work. This is a heartening development rather than the opposite.

Canadian personnel have much experience in UN truce missions in various parts of the world, as well as in the active roles imposed by the Korean campaign and the Suez intervention. They have proved to be effective UN instruments and their participation in the Congo was to be expected. It is surprising therefore that the defence department does not seem to have been ready for the call, which might have been anticipated. Ottawa reports suggest that the Canadian units, ancillary troops to be deployed throughout the UN's Congo forces, will not get there for a month or so. The pressing need for UN pacification—or at least its rescue aspect—might be passed by then.

A military contingent may not be able to pack up and leave overnight, but Swedish and Irish troops are said to have responded on 48 hours' notice. That is the kind of prompt reply that reflects credit on preparedness. Apart from the Congo altogether, the delay does not suggest that Canada is able to answer quickly any sudden demand on its military resources. If it takes a month or more to employ a few hundred non-combat troops where they are needed how ready then is the defence department to meet any larger emergency? A satisfactory answer would be reassuring.

Victoria's Smoke Pall

CONTROVERSY over the pollution of the air over Victoria caused by industrial smoke has dragged inconclusively along for so many years that most people have forgotten when it first became a civic issue. There has not even been full agreement in council as to whether or not contamination is being caused to a degree constituting a public nuisance, although the board of health has asserted more than once that it does.

It would be idle for anyone seriously to suggest that industrial smoke, accompanied by the precipitation of dirty ash for considerable distances beyond the industrial zone, is of no consequence. The evidence of the eyes—and they do not need to be particularly observant—is sufficient. Anyone who may be so accustomed to this unnatural cloud overhead as to become oblivious to it need only take a short journey to high ground on the outskirts of the city to be made aware of it. From that same elevation also it is easy to track the worst emanations to their sources.

This is the best time of year for such a study, because at other seasons in the past there have been attempts to minimize the volume of industrial smoke and to place much of the blame on inefficiently controlled heating units in homes and store and office buildings. Some of these certainly do contribute to the clouding of the air at other times of the year; but in weather such as this the fires are dead and virtually the only chimneys belching smoke and ash are those of certain industries, not all of them connected with the lumber trade.

Always when there is a call for elimination of these emissions or their reduction to harmless wisps there are defensive statements that the industries which are generating smoke could not exist without doing so, or that suppression would be so costly as to drive them away to new sites elsewhere. This negative attitude towards something affecting the whole population largely ignores the demonstrated fact that industries have survived in other cities throughout the world where authority has stepped in; and not only survived but also in some instances saved substantially on outlays for fuel through more efficient methods of combustion.

Hitherto the Victoria council has been too timid about this problem. There is now before it another official report recommending stricter regulation in order to produce an improvement mildly described as "most desirable." It has been made at a time when the aldermen can very easily see for themselves just how desirable it is.

Lengthy Congo Patrol

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

AN authoritative on-the-spot assessment of the Congo situation has suggested that the United Nations force now being established there may have to stay several years to keep the peace. This is the price for near-total unpreparedness of the country for self-rule and independence.

The U.N. force's presence will be required to prevent dangerous flare-ups between Congolese and Europeans, and even more so among the Congolese themselves. Under the U.N.'s protective shield, the country may calm down and build up a civil service and proper government institutions. The projected U.N. force necessary to do the job effectively is estimated at between 15,000 and 17,000 men.

Secretary of State Herter's assertion that Khrushchev was bluffing in his threat to send combat troops to the Congo, has its strange counterpart in East Berlin.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

SOMETIMES I feel sorry for the military brass hats; few there are who give them credit for knowing their business. They are always preparing for the last war, for instance, not the next one.

Or so the armchair critics allege. The popular assumption seems to be that generals are dimwits. People will acknowledge a business tycoon as a VIP worthy of respect, but not a general.

Not so much, anyway. The legend is too firmly fixed. It's a funny thing, really. People hesitate to contradict a doctor or any one of a score of other specialized authorities, but they haven't the slightest qualms about ticking off the brass hats.

Not all generals are geniuses, true; although the record in the last war was pretty good. Allied generalship was probably the best since Wellington's day.

I thought of this afresh when I read Gerald Waring's piece the other day about army manoeuvres at Camp Gagetown, N.B. Five thousand Canadian regulars and some militiamen were at grips in a mock battle.

And, says Gerald, the atomic era hasn't made much difference to our troops; except for better weapons and equipment it was World War II all over again.

To some extent, surely, it had to be. Nobody knows what another world war would be like; meaning nuclear war. It's hypothetical.

All wars are hypothetical in advance of course; and they seldom turn out as expected. Past knowledge can be scrapped, however. Every professional of any kind prepares for the future on his experiences of the past.

The hope is that enough professionals are receptive to new ideas and have some forward vision. I know of no reason why brass hats should be thought more deficient in this respect than the top men of other business.

There is a good chance anyway that they know much more about military matters than civilians do. The few generals and admirals I have met seem to me to be fairly wideawake chaps.

But how should troops in mock battle at Camp Gagetown undertake World War III exercises?

There, surely, is a rub. Using what we call conventional arms a unit can spray live ammunition even in manoeuvres. It would be a different kettle of fish if they used nuclear weapons.

The army may have a gripe about not having atomic arms; that's a separate question. But if they had them could these be exploded in practice training? And if not how else would the troops carry out World War III manoeuvres; unless only on paper.

Coincidentally I came across a complaint by a Roman consul in 168 B.C. The armchair generals in the Roman clubs had been scoring his generalship in Macedonia, and so he invited any one of them to leave the comforts of Rome and come to Macedonia and show him how to run the war.

He would provide his guest, he said, with a ship, a horse, a tent and even funds for the journey.

Nobody took him up.

Subterranean Fortress

At the Core of Strategic Air Command

By CASSANDRA

HEADQUARTERS, Strategic Air Command, Nebraska, U.S.A.—Ten miles from the rather shabby mid-West town of Omaha lies Offutt Air Base—better known as Strategic Air Command.

Here, at the exact geographic centre of the U.S., I am in the subterranean fortress from which the Third World War will be conducted if mankind is so criminally insane as to embark upon it.

This is where the last final Danse Macabre will be played.

I have been speaking to the two top men who run Strategic Air Command and who have enough destructive force to end mankind at their fingertips.

They are General Thomas S. Power, Commander-in-Chief, and Lieutenant-General Francis ("Butch") Griswold, Vice-Commander in Chief. They are determined and able men who detest rather than dislike the Soviet Union.

Both have first-hand experience of the Russians—Power in Moscow and Griswold at Geneva. They know the intransigence of the top Communists and they have spent weeks in those interminable and ultimately infuriating negotiations which always seem to end in frustration and despair.

I have to report that the mood of Strategic Air Command as reflected in the conversation of these two men is uncompromising and grimly resolute.

The shooting down of the RB-47 plane by Soviet fighters near their northern coasts has not made them budge an inch from the position that this was a lawful flight—and that such lawful flights should continue.

"If you retreat on this one," said General Griswold, "you will be compelled to retreat elsewhere. International boundaries and territorial waters are as sacred in the Arctic as, say, in Berlin. The whole record of Communism is of searching, probing pressure seeking for weaknesses leading to grab."

I asked him about his view on the U-2 incident in which the pilot, Francis Powers, was captured on a photographic flight over the Soviet Union on May Day.

He said that espionage was one of the hard facts of military life, and, anyway, what was the difference between a Soviet satellite with photographic equipment on board whirling over the U.S.A. every ninety minutes and a machine with a man in it surveying the U.S.S.R.?

"What," asked General Griswold, "is the difference in the offence, if any—the man?"

I asked him if Russian spy planes ever flew over America.

He replied: "No. Why should they? They can buy an airline ticket and come here and see all they want. They are free to move around. Too free. Why, we just stopped one of them who was getting ready to hire a photographic survey plane to take high altitude pictures at 40,000 feet of New York City."

"The Russians can stroll round OUR garden picking military flowers. We have to look over the fence into THEIRS."

Exorcising a Ghost

(From the Peterborough Examiner)

IT was only last weekend that some romantically-minded girls were sighing to us that Canada has no ghosts; they had been looking at a TV program which dealt with the supernatural, and they hankered after something of the kind in reality. And now we learn that Archdeacon John Frank of Holy Trinity Church in Toronto has been called upon to exorcise a ghost in an old house in the city, which has terrorized the caretakers. What old house? None other than that of William Lyon Mackenzie!

We take this with some seriousness because it is not easy to persuade any clergyman to perform a service of exorcism, and we are sure that Archdeacon Frank did not move hastily. To undertake such a task admits to a belief in ghosts, and ghosts are not widely popular these days. Of course, belief in an active spirit world was dear to the heart of William Lyon Mackenzie King, famous grandson of the original owner of the Haunted House. What ghost is abroad? Is it that of the Old Rebel himself, or that of the Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King, P.C., trying to convince a sceptical public that he was right all the time in his adherence to spiritualism?

What rite did Archdeacon Frank use in his exorcism of the King Homestead? Was it that awesome one which begins: "Exorcise thee, unclean spirit... thou seducer of mankind, thou root of evil, thou source of avarice, discord and envy." We are not sure how a former rebel against oppression, or even a former prime minister, might respond to such frank abuse.

The Packsack

The Inn of Friendship

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of my female relatives goes for a trip to Britain each spring and tours around the back roads looking for all the places that aren't in the guide books.

One of her favorite inns is in a little-travelled section of Derbyshire. It is operated by two middle-aged women as a sort of hobby. They have at heart the preservation of the old feeling of the country.

This being her third visit to the inn, where she stays a week at a time, my relative felt she had reached a basis of personal friendship with the two proprietresses, which allowed her the privileges of intimacy.

"One thing," she said to them over the tea in the garden, "you don't charge enough. Your rates are not half what they are everywhere else."

"Well," apologized the inn-keepers, "we get a good many regular guests, young people who can't afford more expensive places. We try to keep a place people will want to come back to. And when they do, we are happy."

"In other words," said my relative, "the people who can afford more are the kind of people you don't want here."

Looking slightly shocked, the two smiled and said:

"Exactly."

No other U-2 plane has ever been lost over Russia and I got a distinct impression that scores of such flights have been made over very long periods.

I told them that there was alarm and anxiety in Great Britain about these operations, and that the matter of U.S. air bases and rocket installations within our shores had taken on an entirely new complexion.

General Griswold was fully aware of this and said that nothing would delight the Russians more than splitting the British and Americans.

But to flinch now and yield to Khrushchev's blackmail and rocket threats would be the same as trying to appease Hitler—and we all know where that led to.

General Power agreed that international tension was building up, but he felt that weakness in the face of the Kremlin would only fan the embers into flames.

At the entrance to Offutt Air Base there is a huge painted sign which reads: "Headquarters, Strategic Air Command. Peace is our profession." I take leave to doubt whether the present-day disciples of Lenin would wholly agree.

Strategic Air Command is in a state of continuous alert. Nuclear war is a matter of hours and maybe minutes. The bomber crews take turns in sleeping in wooden huts alongside their aircraft and are by rotation confined to their quarters for several days on end.

Once every twenty-four hours at any time of the night or day the alarm is sounded and the crews race to the double to their gigantic B-52s which carry the thermonuclear bombs. Non-stop patrols are continually flying in the Arctic areas and could be ordered to attack the Soviet Union at a few minutes' notice.

The whole essence of this endless rehearsal for the prodigious holocaust is SPEED, SPEED, SPEED. Strategic Air Command will not wage a preventative war and is fully aware that Russia has an immense advantage in knowing this and being able to choose the time for an attack if she feels she has a good chance of winning.

It takes just thirty minutes for a missile fired from Soviet bases to reach the United States and within that time Strategic Air Command believes that its warning system would give the Americans a chance to be up and at them.

Any attack to be successful would have to get masses of rockets and aircraft into the air at the same time, and the Americans believe their radar screens would show this beyond a doubt.

"The manned bomber is still essential," said General Griswold. "The aircraft can still turn back while in flight and withhold the blow if necessary. The rocket, once launched, is on its way and only the target can end the flight."

Forty feet below the ground under hundreds of tons of concrete is the central command post. It is an enormous hall with a cliff of huge charts, displays and diagrams down one side. Opposite them is what looks like a super-luxurious grandstand with plate-glass windows.

Inside this spacious control room are comfortable chairs and one long continuous eye-witness table with telephones, recorders, flashing lights, closed circuit television cameras and the most costly and advanced electronic computers in the world.

The furniture is at board room level and the place is beautifully lit with fluorescent light and is interconnected by a complex communications system to the outside world from New York to Los Angeles, from Greenland to Turkey, from Pakistan to Norway.

When the world blows up this will not be a bad hole to watch it from.

Duncan Protests Pony Playoffs

'Just Luck of Draw'

Protests of officials of the Duncan all-star team over conditions of the B.C. Pony League baseball tournament here last weekend were dismissed as having no basis by directors of the tournament last night.

Three petitions are being circulated in Duncan, and team officials hope to have 300 signatures to present to league headquarters in Walla Walla, Wash.

"We feel our team got a poor shake down there," said Jack Smythe, director of the Mid-Island League. He added that "chances are" the protest will not change results of the games, but will call attention to the poor schedule in which one team had to play more games than another.

Duncan played five games, one on Friday and two on Saturday and Sunday, and league headquarters in Walla Walla, Wash.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

Young Dick Munn, who has made a name for himself in recent weeks by reaching the finals of the B.C. Amateur and then qualifying for the U.S. junior golf championship, has been made an honorary junior member of the Uplands Golf Club.

The gesture to the Cedar Hill youngster is a timely one for his home course is without traps and does not have sufficient length or practice facilities to prepare himself for forthcoming big events.

Munn is leaving at the weekend for Kansas City where he will play in the U.S. junior championship, and then a month later he will be one of the four B.C. boys taking part in the inter-provincial junior team championships at Toronto.

Members of the Uplands club will be asked to make an important decision on Thursday evening when a special meeting is being held in the Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium to consider clubhouse plans.

Members are being asked to select between building a new clubhouse from foundation up to be placed on the site of the present putting green, or to have a major reconstruction job done on the present clubhouse.

Doug Willard, who has taken the place of Alastair Campbell as president will chair the meeting. Mr. Campbell resigned his position as chairman last week.

It is one of the unfortunate things in golf that despite valiant efforts by those in authority to have the rules simplified and made easier to understand, they are actually becoming more confusing and liable to misunderstanding.

Comparatively few players today are quite certain of the correct procedure to be adopted on the green in the question of marking balls for the various reasons a ball may be lifted. These regulations become complicated because they vary not only in match and stroke play but also between singles, and three and four-ball play.

For, although the rules say that the person about to play has full control as to whether he wants the flagstick left in the hole, attended or removed, and may ask that another ball may be marked or putted out (at the discretion of his opponent or fellow competitor) this does not apply in matches where three or four balls are being played.

In this case any player may ask that any ball (except the ball about to be played) lifted, or played at the option of the owner, if he considers that it might interfere with or be of assistance to a player or side.

Thus in singles play (match or stroke) the only player who may ask for a ball to be marked, or putted out, is the person about to play. In three or four ball matches, any player may ask for any ball to be lifted.

It is surprising how much confusion arises out of this difference.

Another modern problem in golf is in regard to the rights of cleaning a ball.

A ball may be marked and cleaned on any putting surface. It may also be cleaned when lifted from a water hazard, an unplayable lie, casual water, ground under repair, or in a hole made by a burrowing animal. But it may not be cleaned during the play of the hole at other times, such as on normal fairway or rough.

In marking a ball on the green at the request of an opponent or fellow-competitor, the marking should be done by the owner of the ball, for he alone is responsible for seeing it is replaced in the correct spot.

If he fails to do this and plays his next shot from a wrong spot he is liable to a penalty of two strokes in medal play and loss of hole in match play.

This happened in the recent B.C. Amateur championship at Uplands when one player moved his marker two club heads off the opponent's line of putt, and then wrongly replaced his ball on the marker.

Unjust thought it may seem, rule 223a makes it quite clear that the player lost the hole for faulty replacement of his ball.

Although the supply of new 1960 rule books is not yet sufficiently large to go around the individual members of every golf club, players should take the opportunity as it occurs of reading the new rules and comparing them with the 1956 version. They may be surprised by what they learn.

Harold Lineham has just possessed Larry McCone as Vancouver Island senior champion and holder of the John Hart Trophy. Harold finished the 36-hole summer tournament with a gross 153, which put him two strokes ahead of the defending champion.

The W. and J. Wilson Trophy for the best low net will be shared this year by C. N. Montague and George Hanson, each with 139, while the par competition winner was Louis Nelson, one up.

Class winners and runners up were "AA" Tom Heathfield and Sid Triller; "A" George Goodwin and Ted Williams; "B" Herb Fanthorpe and Dr. M. L. Olson; "C" Rev. Harry Pike and W. Chatwin; "D" James D. Ferguson.

Rugby Team Plans Tour of British Isles

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada has been invited by the Rugby Football Union of England to send an all-Canada side to tour the British Isles in mid-December of 1962.

Chairman Bob Spray of the British Columbia Rugby Tours Committee of Canada made the announcement. He said an 18-game tour had been proposed with games in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

No all-Canada team has previously undertaken a tour of the British Isles.

It is likely that the schedule for the all-Canada team will be similar to that undertaken by the South African universities when they toured the British Isles in 1956.

The proposed tour would last two months, ending in mid-February of 1963.

Villagers Hostile Squire Plows Pitch

WOOTEN WAWEN, England (AP)—The village cricket team had to call off Sunday's match—the squire plowed up the cricket pitch.

"The villagers had only themselves to blame," announced Jack Evans, who is really only the unofficial squire of this Warwickshire village.

Evans, a wealthy car dealer, moved into Wooten Wawen two years ago as the new owner of Field Farm, long the traditional home of the village squire.

But, Evans said, the country folk never did accept him. Even though the cricket pitch, sacred ground to most Englishmen, was on his land.

White Sox Show Power In Beating Boston, 16-3

Chicago White Sox, who traded some of their speed for power in the off-season, continued to get gobs of it last night as they trounced Boston Red Sox, 16-3, to maintain their one-game lead in the American League.

Even little Nellie Fox got in on the power-hitting act with his first home run of the season, one of four the White Sox got in scoring their 22nd victory in 31 games. They needed the win to stay ahead of New York Yankees, who beat Cleveland, 6-1.

Gene Freese, with five hits including his ninth home run, and Jim Landis drove in four runs each as the Sox got 21.

Athletics pushed over the winning run with two out in the eighth inning on four singles, two of which didn't get past the infield. Jerry Lumpe's topper to second base brought in the winner.

Ex-Yankee Johnny Kucks got the win and Milt Pappas threw a seven-hitter in defeat.

Lions Gag Critics With 49-7 Win

MONTREAL—B.C. Lions roared a hearty horse laugh at their critics here last night as they romped merrily through Montreal Alouettes, 49-7, in their second exhibition game of the Canadian football season.

It was the most satisfying of victories for coach Wayne Robinson, whose club came under mild fire after being held to a 29-29 tie with the Alouettes in Vancouver. Since Montreal had just been whitewashed, 38-0, by Edmonton Eskimos, the critics were already predicting dark things for Robinson's Lions in the tough Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Temporarily, at least, the critics were silenced last night. Blending a razor-sharp passing game with a stout defensive performance, the Lions never left any doubt about who was in command. A crowd of 20,000, on hand for the home debut of the Alouettes and freshman coach Perry Moss, never had much to cheer about.

Robinson used all his players, and scoring was evenly distributed. Fullbacks Vern Loftstrom, By Bailey and Nub Beamer, halfback Willie Fleming, quarterback Jim Walder, and Norm Fieldgate, who fell on a blocked kick, each scored one touchdown. Vic Kristopaitis booted six of the seven conversions and added a single point on a kickoff.

Import halfback Howie Cissel scored Montreal's touchdown, converted by Bill Bewley, on a one-yard plunge in the final quarter.

Standout efforts by Vic Beamer didn't do much to solve Robinson's problem of choosing an import fullback, but Randy Duncan showed everyone he is still first-string quarterback of the Lions.

Duncan handled the team for the first 35 minutes and led them to a 36-0 lead while completing 10 of 12 passes. Walder and Canadian Earl Keeley each completed three-for-three in sharing the rest of the quarterbacking, making the Lions' total 16 of 18, for 228 yards.

Sam Etcheverry was held to 12 completions in 24 attempts by the rough Lion pass defence. Etcheverry, who had ridden the Lions for 274 yards through the air in the first game, was held to 113 yards rushing compared to 97 for Montreal.

It was a sad start for Moss, whose announced policy of "more finesse" from the Alouettes has apparently backfired. Montreal has scored only 36 points in three exhibition games while allowing 116. His efforts to shuffle players and find a winning combination last night turned the offence into a shambles.

LOOKED SHARP
Lions, on the other hand, looked like a sharp and well-conditioned club. After Kristopaitis was wide on a first-quarter field goal, they took advantage of every break and rolled up a 28-0 lead in the first half.

Westminster net, blocking 38 shots to keep his club in contention until the final quarter. A total of 42 minutes in penalties was called, 22 to New Westminster, as officials backed up a commission promise to have tighter enforcement of the rules.

The penalty toll included misconducts to Barbour and New Westminster's Doug McRory for a third-quarter brawl.

sort shapes up at Memorial Arena tonight when Vics host Nanaimo.

Victoria, with manager Ralph Baker acting as coach in the absence of his suspended brother Norm, will be fighting to retain its ever-so-slight chance of a playoff spot. Nanaimo, on the other hand, can settle the problem once and for all with a victory.

If Vics win twice against Nanaimo this week and take two more from Vancouver next week, Nanaimo will still have to lose twice to New Westminster to give Vics a chance at a playoff for third place.

Last night in Vancouver, Bobby Marsh's crew of youngsters beat New Westminster, 8-5, to take a four-point lead with three games left. A victory tomorrow night in New Westminster would clinch the title and give them a bye into the playoff final.

Vancouver rapped in three unanswered goals against the defending Mann Cup champions in the fourth quarter for the victory. Ron Hemmerling and Bob Babcock each scored twice, with single goals coming from Bill Chisholm, Bill Barbour, Alex Carey and Fred Usselman.

Les Norman played another standout game in the New

"I gave the cricket club notice to quit because I wanted to farm the land," Evans said.

"Plowing the pitch was the result of a long series of hostile acts directed against me by the villagers."

"The reason in the first place was probably because I'm a town man daring to try my hand at farming."

Eves, Jerome Get VIP Treatment

Purple Buttermilk? Sure!

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—"If they want purple buttermilk," Bud Winter said, "we'll get the purple buttermilk." Winter, of San Jose State, is one of the coaches of the United States Olympic track and field team, assembled here for a week of practice to be capped by a meet Saturday. America's "finest 56" plus alternates, plus four Canadian guest athletes, plus coaches and trainers are working out kinks and sluggishness which may have developed in the lay-off since the Olympic trials early this month.

"This is a finishing process," said Ralph Higgins of Oklahoma State College, an assistant coach like Winter. Larry Snyder of Ohio State is head coach. Higgins and Winter agreed America's best track and field athletes will need little tutoring. To help relax them and bring them to the peak of condition, they will get the full attention and co-operation of coaches, even to Winter's "purple buttermilk." The trip to the Rome Olympics is assured for most of the stars but the three 10,000-metre men still must attain the Olympic qualifying standard. None of the team's trio in the 10,000 has equalled the time of 29 minutes, 40 seconds necessary for a spot in the starting lineup at Rome. The Canadians are Harry Jerome, and Klaus and Sig Ohlemann, all of Vancouver and Lynn Eves of Victoria. Jerome, co-holder of the world 100-metre record of 10 seconds flat, will race for a second time Saturday against Ray Norton, America's ace and co-holder of the 100 yard dash record at .09.3. Jerome won when they met in the Modesto, Calif., relays in May. Sig Ohlemann is Canada's Olympic hope in the 800 metres. Eves ranks second to Jerome as a Canadian sprinter. Klaus Ohlemann, a prep schooler, is an outstanding 400 metre man.

Ten Flat? Ridiculous

BERLIN (AP)—When Armin Hary was told that a 19-year-old Canadian had duplicated his world mark of 10 seconds flat for the 100 metres, the crew-cut German sprinter stiffened and blurted: "Ten flat? Ridiculous. No one can run that fast."

What Hary meant, of course, was that no one except Hary could run that fast. Despite his disbelief, the fact remained that Hary's mark was tied July 15 in Saskatoon by Harry Jerome of Vancouver while competing in the Canadian Olympic track and field trials.

EAGER TO MEET
Jerome, a student at the University of Oregon, also beat Ray Norton of the U.S. in May of this year at the Modesto, Calif., relays. Norton won the Pan-American 100 and 200-metre events last year at Chicago.

Hary, 23, is eager to meet Norton in a head-to-head duel in the Olympic Games, opening Aug. 25 in Rome. The seven-nation meet at Zurich, Switzerland, and the Frankfurt department store clerk threatens to smash the United States' long-time sprint monopoly in the games.

He may at that. His style consists of a rocket take-off—acclaimed the fastest the sport has ever seen—and straight-away power. Hary won the West German 100-metre trials Sunday in 10.2 and he seemed to loaf through the final dash.

The blond, slender six-footer set the track world buzzing earlier this year when he ran the 100 in 10 flat. It was the first time the feat had been achieved until Jerome came along.

Hary's time was set in a dash record at .09.3. Jerome won when they met in the Modesto, Calif., relays in May. Sig Ohlemann is Canada's Olympic hope in the 800 metres. Eves ranks second to Jerome as a Canadian sprinter. Klaus Ohlemann, a prep schooler, is an outstanding 400 metre man.

A speed limit of eight miles an hour for a distance of 200 feet from the shore or a float on any lake would solve many of the problems of speedboaters on small lakes, Gerry Morris told the freshwater chapter of the Victoria Fish and Game Club Monday night.

Morris told about the speedboating rules of Mason County in Washington where there are 76 lakes. Minors under 14 years of age are not allowed in charge of a motorboat unless they have a qualified adult with them, he said.

Morris is chairman of the motorboating committee of the freshwater chapter and observed that if a speed limit for 200 feet from shore were imposed in B.C., dangerous water skiing on small lakes would automatically stop.

Youngest King Fisherman contest crest winner is Ron Province, 9, of 1175 Bewdley. He fishes with his uncle, Charlie Hamilton, who is junior activities chairman of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, and landed a seven-pound steelhead in the San Juan River to win his trout crest. He has been trying for a spring crest at Becher Bay and recently lost all his tackle to a big one.

One well-known Victoria camping supply merchant tells this column that his sales of tents this summer are more than double that of last summer, but his rentals are down considerably.

Could be that people who rented in past years have found they liked camping and are outfitting themselves. The new quick-to-put-up cabin-style tents and bigger umbrella-type tents could also have something to do with it, as people go in for the roomier and more comfortable models and discard their old nine-by-nines.

When you get a lure or a dodger which is catching fish, scratch an X or some other mark on it, so you know what tackle to use next time you go fishing.

Rhys Davis says that the best timing for fish on the big tides is just at the last of the flood tide.

Most people are afraid to throw line away, says Rhys as he cuts 20 feet of line from his reel. "They would rather throw away the gear and the fish by using a rotten line," he says.

It is a good idea to carry a sharpening stone in your tackle box. A good test for a sharp hook is to see if it will hang on your thumbnail. If it does, the hook is sharp enough to catch fish.

Match Fizzles Out; Fourth Test Drawn

MANCHESTER, England—The rain-soaked, fourth cricket test between England and South Africa ended in a draw Tuesday.

England, assured of victory in the five-match series after winning the first three games, declared at mid-afternoon to set South Africa the almost impossible task of making 185 runs in 107 minutes for victory. The South African batsmen were given no chance to force the pace and the match fizzled out tamely.

Results of cricket matches:
At the Oval: Surrey 137 and 113; Lancashire 248 and 141 for 8; Lancashire won by 116 runs. Derbyshire 12 points.
At Blackheath: Middlesex 228 and 209 for 7; Kent 108 and 214. Middlesex won by 119 runs. Middlesex 14 points.
At Burnmouth: Hampshire 213 for 3 declared and 135 for 7 declared; Somerset 306 and 46 for 2. Draw. Hampshire 4 points.
At Bristol: Gloucestershire 208 and 247; Sussex 388. Draw. Sussex 4 points.

Do-Si-Do With 2,500

PENTICTON (CP)—A record 2,500 square dancers from Canada and the United States have entered the annual Penticton Peach Festival square dancing competitions here Aug. 3-6.

Jim Hendry said 13 years ago when the event was first held, about 200 dancers took part.

Show Business

By Dick Williams

Cary Grant, Robert Mitchum and Jean Simmons have been in London filming "The Grass Is Greener," a comedy about the current vogue for opening England's stately homes and castles to tourists.

For a sequence shot on a studio sound stage, director Stanley Donen employed a split-screen technique in which one part of the scene showed the interior of Osterley Park Manor, and the other, Mitchum's suite at the Hotel Savoy. Donen directed the complicated set-up from a 15-foot platform erected in the centre of the stage. One-half of the action was shot by a camera at one end of the stage, while the other half was being shot simultaneously at the other.

The big sound-stage was more than 200 feet wide, so Donen used a walkie-talkie to get directions across. At one point he was unable to get Cary Grant's attention at the far end of the stage. Jean Simmons, standing near Donen, offered her help. And she sped across to Cary's side.

As Donen watched, Jean spoke into Cary's walkie-talkie in perfect deadpan:

"Whom shall I say is calling?"

"I've obviously got the wrong number," Donen replied, and called a break.

Curfew on Both Races

GREENVILLE, S.C. (CP)—Officials of this city of 65,000 Tuesday clamped a curfew on all persons 20 years of age and under in an effort to halt a wave of racial incidents.

The action was taken by city council at an emergency session in the wake of two straight nights of clashes between gangs of whites and Negroes, most of them teenagers or young men.

Sunday and Monday nights crowds of Negroes and whites roamed the city streets and spilled over into the county areas. There were incidents of rock throwing and even shooting of cars.

Relentless Sun Sears 5,000 On B.C. Firelines

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Rich stands of timberlands were added to the B.C. forest fire toll Tuesday as hot, dry weather plagued thousands of firefighters.

Five thousand men were on the firelines, most of them in the big Kamloops forest district, where the toll has been heaviest.

The fires raged through stands of spruce, cedar, pine and fir, many of them in inaccessible areas.

NO WIND
High temperatures continued in the Kamloops forest district, but it was calm most of Tuesday and no wind was reported from any of the fire areas.

It was a land fight. Only small spotting planes could leave the Kamloops airfield after the crash-landing of a B-17 water-bomber on Monday.

The 400 fires in the province ranged from a few acres to stands of 10,000 acres.

One favorable report came from Fernie, B.C., in the southeast section of the province where firefighters

City May Study Tax Loss from 'Capital Precinct'

A study to determine how much tax revenue Victoria will lose as provincial government development gradually fills the "capital precinct" behind the legislative buildings was suggested yesterday by Mayor Percy Scourrah.

The Capital Improvement District Commission has asked the city to rezone the precinct, bounded by Belleville, Oswego, Michigan and Douglas, to bar construction of anything but single-family dwellings in it. "That still leaves a comparatively large area for apartment house development in James Bay, and with the exception of one proposed apartment block on Kingston, I don't know of any applications to build apartments in the precinct area. However, as the government takes over more and more of the property in the precinct, it is going to pose a tax problem which in my opinion will have to be recognized by the government. It will throw an added burden on the rest of the city and to my mind it increases our argument that the government should pay municipal taxes the same as the Dominion government does and the same as some of the other provinces do. "We're glad to co-operate with the government in any way possible but I think there should be a survey made of the amount of tax revenue that would be lost to the city if and when the entire capital precinct is taken off the tax roll."

Rescuer Aids Blind Woman

Blind Rose Williams, 42, gratefully accepts a drink of water from 26-year-old Hungarian refugee Otto Waitzner who braved smoke and flame to lead the sightless woman

They're Following Warren

Birds Getting Even For City's Slight?

Perhaps under the mistaken impression that he had something to do with dropping Victoria's "Follow the Birds" slogan, the birds are giving city parks administrator W. H. Warren a bad time this summer.

A few weeks ago, Beacon Hill Park blackbirds were the problem. Across the road from the deer-pan, they were so aggressive that park staff had to wear tin hats. One swooped and pecked Mr. Warren on top of his unprotected head. Now it's the crows.

"We are having a lot of trouble with them along Dallas," Mr. Warren said yesterday.

"They're taking the garbage out of the garbage cans and scattering it in a 20-foot radius around each can every day. I don't know what we can do about it."

Greater Victoria is using 36,000,000 gallons of water a day but doesn't need to worry about it even if the weather stays hot and dry.

"Gosh, no," said Water Commissioner Ronald Upward yesterday when he was asked if the area might use up its supply in the remainder of the summer. "We hardly saw any up to the end of June, and I don't think we'll more than half empty the reservoirs."

Only danger, he said, would be in a comparatively dry winter. A dry winter, combined with the present high consumption, could lead to a water shortage next summer. Actually, Mr. Upward said, 36,000,000 gallons a day is a little below normal for this sort of weather. "It's better weather than in 1958, but water sales are lower."

Increased price of water in Saanich might be a reason for the below-normal consumption, he said, but "you could probably pick the reason out of a hat."

Orders Still Peddled

City Meal Tickets Off 'Exchange'

Welfare meal tickets aren't selling on the "Johnson Street stock exchange" as they did in March, city welfare administrator William Hooson said yesterday.

In March, MLA Herbert Bruch told the legislature that professional beggars of Johnson Street were "taking" some of Victoria's charitable organizations and that meal tickets were selling for 10 cents each on the "exchange."

The meal ticket situation has been straightened out to some degree now with a system that makes it difficult to transfer the tickets, Mr. Hooson said.

But he said some welfare recipients still are "peddling grocery orders"—selling vouchers to a few store operators willing to pay cash for them, at a discount.

"It seems some people have no conscience," he said.

Big U.S. Carrier Isn't Coming

Scheduled visit of the giant U.S. Navy aircraft carrier Coral Sea to Victoria on the weekend of Aug. 19 has been cancelled, the navy said yesterday, because it can't be fitted into a crowded schedule.

Seattle Kiwanians Inspect City Club's Homes for Aged

Five representatives of Seattle's Shoreline Kiwanis Club came to Victoria yesterday to inspect and hear the history of the Victoria club's shining example of low-rental housing for the elderly, Kiwanis Village.

"They have in mind the development of something along the same line," said Ronald Lochhead, vice-president of the Kiwanis Village Society, "and their reaction was very, very favorable."

Mr. Lochhead explained to them how the Victoria club had proceeded with the development from the first six units in 1952 to the present 50 units, valued at about $400,000.

They were also shown the site of the villa the Kiwanis Club proposes to build for single persons.

Led to Safety by Hungarian

Fiery Death Cheated By Blind Woman, Son

Discovery Island Blaze

By TERRY HAMMOND

A 42-year-old blind Indian woman and her six-year-old son were saved from fiery deaths near Victoria yesterday when a Hungarian immigrant led them to safety through a flaming building.

The woman, Rose Williams, and her son, Gerry, were apparently unable to find their way out of the burning Discovery Island cabin in which the family lives each summer while caring for a flock of sheep which belongs to members of the Songhees band.

CAMPFIRE NEARBY

A Songhees band official said the fire may have been caused by a campfire near the cabin.

A small boat bearing campers was said to have pulled up on the beach in front of the Williams' home yesterday morning, but nobody could be sure whether they built a fire or not.

Otto Waitzner, who fled from Hungary following a people's uprising in 1956, was working some distance from the cabin on the estate of Capt. E. G. Beaumont when he was told of the fire at the north end of the tiny island situated about a mile off Oak Bay.

RUSHED TO SCENE

Rushing to the scene in his employer's car, he heard cries from within the smoking cabin and rushed in to find Mrs. Williams and her son groping for a way out.

Seconds after he led them to safety through clouds of suffocating smoke from burning sheep's wool the building flared into flame and was consumed in a matter of a few minutes.

Langford forest service crews were rushed to the scene and removed the youngster, slightly singed and in a mild state of shock, to Royal Jubilee Hospital by means of a boat chartered from Oak Bay Boat House.

"HELP, HELP"

"I could hear them yelling 'help, help' when I got to the cabin," Waitzner told newsmen. "There was no time to save anything."

SMELLED SMOKE

Mrs. Williams said she was washing dishes and preparing the evening meal for her family when she first smelled smoke.

Her husband, Ned, and an older son, Henry, were fishing a short distance away but did not notice the smoke until after Waitzner reached the scene.

WOOL LOST

Mr. Williams said he lost 200 pounds of sheep wool, an outboard motor, 80 gallons of gasoline which was in a drum beside the cabin, plus all the family's clothes and a summer's supply of food staples.

"I am blind. I cannot see where the fire is," Mrs. Williams recalled afterwards.

TRIED TO HELP

"Gerry tried to help me but we could not get out," her eyes were still red-rimmed from the smoke, but a stoic expression on her face. Mrs. Williams told how she had been blinded some 20 years ago by a dental infection.

"My eyes hurt all the time," she said.

Mr. Williams said he will move his family back to a cabin on the Esquimalt reserve of the Songhees band.

Grilse Extent of Food

Only morsel of food left to Williams family after blaze of undetermined origin razed their Discovery Island summer cabin yesterday was one-pound grilse which Henry Williams, 16, and his father Ned, caught a short distance away while the rest of the family barely escaped death.

Water Bomber At Sproat Lake Ready for Action

A B.C. lumber syndicate's huge Martin Mars water bomber lay poised at Sproat Lake on Central Vancouver Island yesterday ready to spring into fire-fighting action on 30 minutes' notice.

The plane, symbol of a $500,000 gamble by a group of lumber companies with extensive holdings on the island and the B.C. mainland, still has not conclusively proved its effectiveness as a forest fire weapon, but B.C. forest officials were encouraged by its one-day performance on the Sproat Creek fire in the interior last Sunday.

100-Man Layoff Coming Aug. 1 At Plywood Mill

Victoria plywood division of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. will lay off approximately 100 employees and revert to two-shift operation effective Aug. 1, the company announced yesterday.

The layoff will chop an estimated $50,000 a month off Greater Victoria payrolls.

SAGGING SALES

A company official told the Colonist last night that the labor force reduction is in line with sagging plywood sales largely attributable to a slowdown in new home construction.

The company was the last B.C. plywood producer to curtail production by laying off employees, the official said. He said every effort had been made to avoid the curtailment and that the layoff had been postponed as long as possible.

FIRE DESTROYED

Because the company's $3,000,000 Vancouver sawmill and head office was destroyed by fire earlier this month few, if any, of the men laid off here can be absorbed in the firm's other divisions, the official said.

Some Vancouver employees left jobless after the False Creek blaze were absorbed in BCFP's Victoria operations, which employ a total of 950 persons, he added.

The spokesman said that as recently as last spring lagging plywood sales were being attributed to poor weather which was thought to be delaying 1960 housing starts.

BEYOND THAT

"But we're beyond that and it is apparent this year's houses just aren't going to be built," he continued.

Many of the 100 due to be laid off here are temporary employees, the official explained, who have not been with the company for a full six months.

He termed it "impossible" to predict how long the production curtailment would last, but remarked that one bright prospect lay in the possibility that U.K. purchases of B.C. plywood may be stepped up in the fairly near future.

Major U.S. plywood firms started production cutbacks almost exactly one year ago under a similar condition of curtailed housing starts.

76 Local Scots Scotland-Bound

Seventy-six members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society leave Victoria by air Friday morning for Scotland where a rousing welcome awaits them.

Word received here yesterday indicated the Provost of Prestwick and the pipe band of the Royal Highland Fusiliers will be on hand to meet the Victoria party on arrival Saturday.

SPECIAL CEREMONY

Arrangements at that end are being handled by former city alderman D. J. Proudfoot. He said in a telegram the Provost of Ayr will preside at a special ceremony at the Burns monument Sunday.

Tour members leave Holyrood House at 8:15 a.m. Friday by bus for Patricia Bay airport where they will board a chartered airliner for a direct flight to Prestwick, Scotland.

FIRST TIME

Officials said it marks the first time a Trans-Canada Air Lines Super-Constellation aircraft with a full complement of passengers has taken off from here.

A Canadian Scottish cadet pipe band will be at the airport to give them a send-off. J. R. Marrs, organizer and tour leader will carry with him greetings from Mayor Percy Scourrah.

The tour will link the St. Andrew's Society—oldest society of any kind in B.C.—with the land of its origin, Scotland. Some members, descendants of Scots, have never seen Scotland.

The program includes a six-day bus trip to the Highlands. Directors of Holyrood House

August

'Bad Polio Month'

Medical authorities are agreed present signs point to August as a "bad month" for polio, Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator George Masters said last night.

"With the polio cases we've had so far it would be a miracle if there were not more acute cases in August," said Mr. Masters.

MEETING HELD

He made the comment following a meeting held yesterday with deputy health minister Dr. G. F. Amyot to discuss the need for more staff and facilities at Royal Jubilee Hospital polio ward.

Thirteen polio patients are now undergoing treatment there and there is room for at most three more.

"When the three remaining beds are filled we will have to look elsewhere in the hospital for additional beds and staff," the administrator said.

King Fisherman

Big Ones Hooked In Inlet

Saanich Inlet is giving up some big fish this week with Doug Dye of Patricia Bay Road landing a 33:12 spring in McKenzie Bay yesterday and weighing it in the King Fisherman contest at Anglers' Boat Rentals.

Edmund Lee landed a 31:11 and a 16:9 spring at Goldstream Island yesterday morning and weighed them in the contest at Hall's Boathouse. Lee was using 150 feet of line, a cement can weight and Strip-Tearer, and Dye was using a Wallace Highliner plug and five pounds of weight.

Today's list of entries — with 94 from Hall's and 32 from the Anchorage — reflects some of the fine fishing experienced in Sunday's Solarium Derby. James Riley of San Francisco, guided by Gordon Lamont, landed a 30:10 spring in Misery Bay.

WHAT'S COOKING

By LOUISE MOORE
Although an English Earl is credited with starting the sandwich craze no doubt our early ancestors came out of the woods after a hunting expedition, slapped a hunk of an animal carcass between thin sheets of unleavened bread long before the Earl knew how to cut the cards at the gaming table.
Be that as it may, sandwiches today appear in every shape and form.
Summer is sandwich time not only because of easy service, but a hearty sandwich makes a delicious and nutritious meal when you don't wish to spend much time in the kitchen.

SALAD SANDWICH
On a sweltering day tempt appetites with salad sandwiches such as chopped green onions, green peppers, ripe olives combined with cottage cheese and seasonings. Put between halves of big firm ripe pained tomatoes, serve on salad greens with a sprig of watercress on top of each, French dressing on the side and herb butter sandwiches to go with it or bacon and cheese sandwiches if you wish for hearty eating.

FRENCH LOAF LAYERS
Perhaps the biggest sandwich I have ever seen was a French loaf a yard long split and spread with garlic butter and layered with meat, chicken, cheese, vegetables and seasonings.
Every one whacked off a portion, toted it to a corner with a cup of coffee and started munching — wonderful eating and the hostess had little washing up afterwards.

JUMBO PIZZA LOAF
Combine 1 lb. ground beef, 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 1/4 cup finely minced onion, 1/4 cup chopped ripe olives, one 6-oz. can tomato paste, seasoning of salt, pepper and oregano or a bit of sage. Mix to blend.
Cut a French loaf of bread in half lengthwise and spread mixture evenly over top of

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've long harbored a theory that people who stand in reception lines never pay the slightest bit of attention to what is being said to them. Yesterday I proved I was right. I would appreciate your comments.

I extended my hand to the father of the bride and said with a smile, "The Russians have just bombed Alaska." The man shook my hand and replied cheerfully, "Thank you very much. It was nice of you to come."

I repeated the same phrase to the bride's mother and she said "Yes, she certainly was beautiful. Thank you for coming."

After four such replies I gave up and left. What has happened to old fashioned sincerity anyway? If you have an explanation I'd like to hear it. —NUTS TO PEOPLE

Dear Nuts: A receiving line is no place to look for "old fashioned sincerity." The people are exhausted, tense and trying their darndest to be cordial and remember the names of people they haven't seen in ages.

Of course it's discouraging to listen to what you say, but don't turn sour on the entire human race because of this little experiment. It's not a fair sampling.

Dear Ann Landers: Now I know what it means to be "blind with rage." I'm so mad at you I can hardly see to write this letter.

What do you mean by telling mothers they have no right to look at their daughters' diaries and read their mail? How else can mothers find out what is going on in this age of crazy-mixed-up kids, high school beer-drunks, rock and roll maniacs and over-crowded homes for unwed mothers?

Are you so stupid that you think young girls are going to tell their mothers what they're doing?

My own daughter is an example of what I mean. I had all I could do to find out where she was half the time and who she was running around with. Even though I managed to read her mail and listen in on her phone conversations she still out-manoeuvred me and ran off and married a bum.

So why don't you wake up and smell the coffee, Ann Landers like you tell other people to do?—FOOL YOURSELF NOT.

Dear Fool Yourself: I can think of no better example to illustrate my point than your testimonial. Thank you for writing.

Please read the letter that follows. This young girl tells how it looks from the other side of the keyhole.

Dear Ann Landers: Every young girl who has a diary and a boy friend loves you! Your answer to the mother who advised mothers to act like a Gestapo agent was just marvelous.

My own mother always treated my sister and me as if we were honest and respectable. We would have died rather than disappoint her. She didn't have to rummage through our drawers or steam open envelopes and glue them back together. We had no trouble telling mother things because she never pried or asked any questions.

If mothers would only realize that they can't force, frighten or order their daughters to be decent and honorable! The desire to be good must come from within as a result of early training.

A self-respecting person hates to be spied on. It doesn't encourage good behavior — only trickiness.—ARLENE.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "lets drift," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What to Expect From Marriage," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. James Bigmore, 3556 Richmond Road, announces the engagement of her daughter, Judith Mary, to Mr. Donald Robert Kenneth Easton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Easton, 2536 Wootton Crescent. The wedding will take place Aug. 20 at Oaklands Chapel, Fernwood Road, at 2.30 p.m.

Bride Wears Pink Dress

A pale pink peau de soie sheath with chiffon overskirt was worn by Miss Betty Dunn for her wedding to Mr. Clive Elmer Watson at Metropolitan United Church, recently.

White accessories and a pink and white whimsy headress completed her outfit. She carried a white prayer book covered with pink carnations. Jewelry was a single strand of pearls and pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, 2440 Mowat Street. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs.

Elmer Watson of 3360 Quadra Street.

Mrs. Dorothy Hume, matron of honor, chose a beige sheath dress with a white chiffon overskirt and carried a fan-shaped bouquet of yellow and white flowers. Two flower girls Marlene and Elaine Dunn were in aqua dresses with full skirts and white chiffon overskirts. Pastel flowers formed their bouquets.

All the attendants wore whimsies to match their dresses.

Mr. Norman Edmunds was best man with Mr. Matthew Yole and Mr. Clifford Hume acting as ushers.

At a reception held in the Golden Slipper Club, Mr. Edward Corbett proposed the bride's toast.

Leaving for a honeymoon in California, the new Mrs. Watson wore a deep pink duster coat over her wedding dress, and a white feather hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson will make their home at 2184 Cadboro Bay Road.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By EDITH HENRY

The adolescent and his money — a problem at your house?

Although there is only a little evidence, we feel sure that parents who give constructive help in the use of money do enable their children to handle it more wisely.

Studies show that boys receive this help more often than girls. However, as women spend a large share of family money it seems reasonable that girls should have some training, too.

We have to remember that training isn't the whole story. Somehow or other the way we use money becomes tied up with our feelings. Some hoard; others spend with prodigality.

Children are the same. It may be well to look beyond the training at the child.

Young Billie, small in stature, with a "thin" voice and retiring ways found he could gain popularity with his group by spreading his money around when food was the order of the day.

He liked to pay for everyone. A spendthrift? No, because he really got what he wanted.

However he might have been helped to membership in his group by more valid means. His money gone, his prestige might go too.

Practical help can come to the teen-ager through an allowance.

Some parents feel an allowance is a luxury. Fathers, particularly, believe they can't afford it.

However, as money must be spent on children anyway, giving them the opportunity to spend for themselves is good experience for them. They develop judgment, too.

Father may pay a small fee for this course in economics but he gains a money-wise son or daughter in the long run.

Allowances can start in a small way, to cover what the child has the ability to spend. Buying his own socks grows into the capable purchase of a whole wardrobe.

Keeping accounts is done to estimate future expenses.

The general parental slant here is to keep track of spendings so that mistakes can be discussed. This is apt to have a cooling effect!

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pearman announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Rose, to Mr. Gordon Rutland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Gorrell, Crystal City, Manitoba. The wedding will take place Saturday, Aug. 27, at 4 p.m., in Centennial United Church, with Dr. M. Thompson officiating.—(Kandid Kamera photo.)

Bouquet Flown To Grandmother

Bridal bouquet of red roses and stephanotis carried by Hazel Louise Light at her recent marriage to Anthony Weber in Centennial United Church was flown to her grandmother, Mrs. C. Cook, Virden, Man., after the ceremony. Mrs. Cook was unable to attend because of illness.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Light, 1145 Palmer Road, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Weber of Czechoslovakia. Mr. and Mrs. R. Hamilton of Port Renfrew, B.C., represented the groom's parents. Rev. S. J. B. Parsons officiated.

Peach gladioli and white chrysanthemums decorated the church as the bride entered on the arm of her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white net over satin, with V-neck net yoke, embossed net lily point sleeves and side panels of tiered embossed net. Pearls and sequins trimmed the bodice. A chapel length veil of illusion misted from a crown of pearls and sequins.

A blue embossed brocade short-length jacket gown was worn by matron of honor, Mrs. Ken Light, Saskatoon. Bridesmaid, Mrs. Glen Wilkie, and bridesmaid, Miss Linda Baird, Kelowna, wore princess style gowns in blue. All wore white feathered bandeaux and white accessories and carried cascade bouquets of peach gladioli.

Sister of the bride, Miss Beverly Light, was a junior bridesmaid in peach brocade with white feathered bandeau and white accessories. She carried yellow gladioli. Flower girl, Miss Maureen Jasper, wore yellow brocade, matching bandeau and white accessories. Yellow ribbon trimmed the basket of yellow, blue and white flowers she carried.

John McKee was best man and ushering were Ken Light, Saskatoon; Blain Hanna, Port Renfrew; Ron Simpson, Virden, Man.; Art Hydes, Port Renfrew, and Bill Harrison, Miss Pamela Paver sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me" during the ceremony.

Red rosebuds flanked the three-tier wedding cake that centred head table at a reception in the Golden Slipper Supper Club, William Parker, Glen Lake, proposed the toast to the bride.

Fashion Scene Turning Green

LONDON (AP) — Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, opened his fall fashion show Thursday and out popped the color green in all sorts of variations.

Among them was a murky hue, "like the River Thames on a dull day," he said. Others were caviar green, bottle green, emerald green, jade green, and subtle shades of blue-greens.

The Hartnell autumn line is boxy. Jackets have slightly concave fronts, some with big pockets. Suit jacket linings get special treatment. One lining of a short overjacket continues upward to form a huge cape collar. Loose panels are arranged to give some coats a two-tiered look.

As in previous years, Hartnell displayed a liking for little black dresses. One had a checkerboard design on the bodice, fashioned of interlaced velvet and taffeta.

Prices suited fashion-minded women who aim to be smart within the limits of a modest purse. Typical prices were $141 for a suit and $147 for a coat.

Pipeline Finally Bought

The five-minute reading of an agreement of sale last night marked the final chapter in Central Saanich's long wait for a piped water supply.

The agreement between the federal government and Central Saanich authorizes the purchase of the Elk Lake-Patricia Bay pipeline at a cost to the municipality of one dollar.

Nearly seven months ago ratepayers gave their consent for the purchase and authorized council to borrow $83,000 for building a reservoir as the first steps toward a piped water supply for the municipality.

Fire Menaces Resort Area

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Firefighters rushed guard lines ahead of an exploding forest fire near the resort centre of Lac Le Jeune Tuesday night after a wind change turned the blaze toward the fishing centre 30 miles south of here. (See story on Page 10.)

The flames covered almost 900 acres and had reached a point five miles from Lac Le Jeune Tuesday night, but forestry officials said the centre is in no immediate danger.

More than 160 men and 17 bulldozers were digging guard lines a mile ahead of the fire to try and hold it.

Saanich firemen gave credit yesterday to passersby and property owners who sailed into action when they spotted two grass fires in the municipality, and made the department's job that much easier.

First fire was on Beaver Lake Road, and was seen by Rodney Coward, 9757 5th Street, Sidney, and Jerry Plewes, 17, 10018 5th, Sidney, while they were horseback riding.

Making sure an alarm had been turned in, the youths hurried some sacks and had beaten the flames pretty well neither extensive.

City firemen also beat down two grass fires yesterday under control when firemen arrived.

Later Richard T. Birch, 5062 West Saanich Road, saw a fire starting up the hill beside his property, toward the Astrophysical Observatory.

With a shovel, and the help of an unidentified passerby, he too set to work to beat down the flames.

Deputy Chief Glenn Robbins commended all four volunteers for their help.

Garden Notes

$10,000 for a 'Waif'

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Seems to me the happiest and most peaceful days in the garden are those when you throw away that infernal list of dull jobs that need doing, and take a holiday from routine, just pottering around at the things that really interest you. An occasional rebellion like this is good for the soul.

My favorite pastime, while in such a mood, is to go on a plant-hunting expedition around my own garden—mostly on my hands and knees—searching for "waifs and strays," the self-sown seedlings of plants and shrubs. Such a prospecting trip is not only full of interest—it can be profitable as well.

We have lots of plants in our garden that seed themselves so freely as to become almost a nuisance. Honesty is one of these, and poppies too, while the little Johnny-jump-up Violas have become a weed with me, and have actually invaded the lawn. Aubrietias, Michaelmas daisies, hollyhocks, foxgloves and delphiniums are all prolific producers of self-sown seedlings.

The adventure in searching out these "volunteers" lies in the fact that any one of these waifs may turn out to be an entirely new break in plants—a new color, a new shape, a different habit of growth. There is always the long-shot chance, too, that such a new plant may turn out to be worth real money. Don't forget the Burpee Seed Co. in California is still offering $10,000 for the first pure white nargold to be found.

The lovely Magnolia kewensis came from just such a chance seedling, found in Kew Gardens, and it just missed by a hairsbreadth being cut down by a gardener's hoe. The alert apprentice, however, noticed something a little different about the tiny seedling among the weeds, so it was saved and propagated, and is now grown in fine gardens the world over.

Mrs. Colin Campbell of Toronto had just such an experience. A few years ago, while weeding a clump of Clematis in her West Toronto garden, she spotted a few self-sown seedlings of this plant. Needing a few extra plants to fill up a gap in her border, she transplanted the seedlings on the point of her trowel, and one of them, turned out to be the world's first, pure white Clematis. This was taken over by a U.S. seed firm and named—Clematis Helen Campbell, honoring the sharp-eyed gardener who rescued the tiny plant.

Among the shrubs, Cotoneaster horizontalis is a prolific parent, probably because the bees are so fond of the tiny, fragrant flowers, and there are always lots of seedlings springing up at the foot of our wall-grown plants. The Brooms, Potentilla, Berberis, Mahonia and Pyracantha all produce enough baby shrubs to stock a nursery, and so does the blue-flowered Caryopteris clandonensis, although this one is extremely difficult to transplant successfully.

I have never had any luck at all from seeds or berries of Daphne sown in pots and given loving care. Strangely enough, though, seeds dropped naturally from established Daphnes in our garden come up as easily as radishes.

TV in Review

By Fred Danzig

No Fear of High-Class Clutter

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's a relatively lonely ride for TV producers such as Robert Saudek.

Identified with top quality, award-winning productions, Saudek is now preparing to take Omnibus back into TV's Sunday traffic, and to produce other goodies as well. Saudek's staff of 25 imaginative associates are handling the details for seven hour-long Omnibus programs, nine Dow Hour of Great Mysteries, at least two 90-minute specials with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic, and assorted specials that are still in the "talk" stage.

While this schedule would seem to be enough to keep any TV producer happy and busy, Saudek took time out recently to shake his head despairingly. He assures us that there's no danger of network TV becoming cluttered with bumper-to-bumper quality programs.

"It's a disgrace that TV schedules are still being made up principally with an eye to what will be cheap—money cheap, that is—and popular. Too many of our TV executives have bloodshot eyes from screening what they call 'new' shows—private eyes, westerns, adventure films. They're still looking for inexpensive things to put on that will be big and successful," Saudek said.

"The trouble is," he added, "that TV doesn't set goals for itself. It does much less than it has to do. What does it have to do? Why, make life more interesting. You do not make life interesting by putting on so much of what they put on."

"Right now, I'd say TV is living off itself. A body can go about three days without food and then starts living off itself. TV is now at a stage where it's living off itself, off its reserve, so to speak, and is also using up its capital and drawing no interest."

He also is dismayed by the stiffening of resistance to TV specials, which came about because of some notable failures in the season just ended.

"They called every ordinary variety show a special and when they didn't hold audiences with them, they swung away from doing more specials," said Saudek. "Actually, each special should be judged on its own. Each is different because the idea on which it is based is different. At least, that's how I see it."

Although Saudek winces when he hears the phrase "intellectual ghetto" used to describe TV's Sunday afternoon programming, in which Omnibus started and will return next fall, he's just against the phrase, not the concept. "We put Omnibus into a Sunday afternoon slot when we started because those afternoons were barren. We enriched that time. Actually, Sunday is the glory of American TV," Saudek said.

Playgirl Role for Kim?

LONDON (NANA)—Columbia has bought the new Erich Remarque book, "Borrowed Time," for $325,000. And ace British actor Laurence Harvey will star in the story that sounds very much like the life of the late racing Marquis "Fon" Portago. Remarque would like Audrey Hepburn to co-star. But with Kim Novak under contract to Columbia, this could be the chance she has been praying for—to play a beautiful international playgirl.

All over London I hear that Gary Merrill is carrying a giant-size torch for divorcing wife Bette Davis. He tells everyone that Bette is the greatest actress in the world, how she won two Oscars, and he goes to see "All About Eve," which is playing again in London. Gary, who otherwise wants to be alone, is living on a houseboat on the River Thames, a mile from the Shepperton Studios where he is starring with Joan Greenwood in the Jules Verne classic, "The Mysterious Island."

Margaret Leighton, in the next fitting room at Rahvis on Upper Grosvenor Street, telling Miss Rahvis, "I want to look like a stocking!" Oddly enough, we all know what she meant. Joan Plowright, the next Lady Olivier, when Sir Laurence gets his divorce, will have Angela Lansbury with her on Broadway in "A Taste of Honey." One of the ads for Joan's film with Sir Larry, "The Entertainers," has them in a most unconventional pose that is sure to cause comment.

The wedding for Hollywood director Stanley Donen and Lady Adele Beatty is set for September, when his "Grass Is Greener" film is cut and edited. . . . And the Sammy Davis nuptials with blonde Mai Britt are planned for Oct. 1, at his home in Hollywood. Sammy comes back to London in April for eight weeks at the Palladium.

Eddie Fisher, who was told he could always come back for the BBC, will do some shows for them while Elizabeth Taylor is emoting in "Cleopatra," for which the entire Pinewood Studio has been taken over. I've never seen so much movie production in Europe, and it is going to increase.

Where has Dan Dailey been keeping his attractive sister, Irene, all these years? Irene, who looks like Dan with her blonde hair, and tall, slender figure, is the hit of the London theatre season in "Tomorrow—with Pictures." I saw the play and she is just fabulous. Nicknamed "The Queen of the Flops" after 12 failures in New York, Irene will come to Broadway with her hit when it closes in London and, to judge by the packed house and the applause, that won't be for some time.

Dined with Eva Gabor, her husband Dick Brown, producer Jimmy Woolf, and actor John Fraser, who played Lord Alfred Douglas for the Warwick production of "Oscar Wilde." We went to Soho and chose Le Reserve for our dinner. This is now a very fashionable place to eat. But who can eat when blinded by Miss Gabor's umpteenth-carat diamond ring? "I have most of my jewels in the vault," said Eva.

To Match West

Russia Building Up East German Fleet

By CAY BROCKDORFF

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—Russia is building up Communist East Germany's small and outmoded fleet in a move to match West Germany's growing naval strength, according to Western intelligence reports.

Soviet efforts to give the Communist navy more fighting punch are viewed by West German defence officials as a Communist action that will strengthen Bonn's attempts to lift restrictions imposed on the West German Navy by the Western European Union.

Russian strategists believe that in the event of war, the Eastern Communist bloc must crush Western defences in the Baltic Sea if Soviet submarines and surface vessels are to break out into the open Atlantic.

At the same time Soviet control of the Baltic's western approaches were viewed as a prerequisite to protect the northern flank of any Soviet troop movements on the central European continent.

According to Western intelligence reports, the Soviets have told East German Communists that they will shortly receive five Skoryi-class destroyers to bring up to a total of seven the East German destroyer fleet. Two destroyers are to be launched shortly at East German shipyards.

The Skoryi destroyers displace 2,150 tons and carry four 130-millimetre guns and 10 torpedo tubes. They are operational in large numbers in the Soviet fleet.

Naval sources said the Soviets are also handing over to East Germany 12 350-ton submarines of the Soviet MV class, armed with two torpedo tubes and developing a submerged speed of 10 knots. These vessels were described by West German experts as "not too impressive."

122 Women Start Climb

GRESSONEY LA TRINITE, Italy (AP)—A party of 122 women and one man set out Tuesday to climb Europe's second tallest mountain. The organizer, 51-year-old bachelor Fulvio Campitelli, was the only man in the mass hike to the ice-capped top of 14,787-foot Mount Rosa, in the Alps. He said he organized it to honor two women climbers killed in the Himalayas last year.

Mrs. Ackerman Dies at 91

She Crossed Plains In Covered Wagon

By James K. Nesbitt

Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Ackerman, who died here this week and who was nearing her 92nd birthday, crossed the great plains of North America in 1870 by covered wagon and stagecoach with her parents, and came up by steamer from San Francisco to Victoria, where she had since lived.

Mrs. Ackerman was a daughter of William Sinclair, giant of the Hudson's Bay Company on this coast a century ago, and his wife, who was born at Fort Nisqually, where Olympia is today.

The Sinclair family came first to Victoria in 1858, lived here during the first half of the 1860's, then went to the Ont., where Margaret Elizabeth was born Sept. 2, 1868. Sinclair home in Brockville.

BOUGHT LARGE FARM

William Sinclair, on his return here, bought a large farm in the Oaklands-Mount Tolmie area, later building a home on Helmcken Street, now Heather Street, in James Bay. He died at Fraser Lake in 1899; his widow, living to be 90, died in 1927 in her James Bay home.

To William Sinclair and his wife, in Victoria, in 1864, were born twin daughters—believed the first twins born here after Victoria became incorporated as a city in 1862.

Mrs. Ackerman was married here in 1894 to William Sinclair.

William Sinclair and his wife had 11 children. With Mrs. Ackerman's death only one is now living—Janet, Mrs. Walter Kippen of Victoria.

The others were James William; Mary Helen (Mrs. McDonald); the twins, Julia Jessie and Christina (Mrs. Frank Bowser and Mrs. Thomas Watson); Francis Alexander; Catherine (Mrs. Rudge); Du-gald; Laura Adelaide (Mrs. Wollett); Ethel Pauline (Mrs. LeRoy Burgess.)

Gambling Charge

Police Raid Nabs 17

Continuing their bid to stamp out gambling in Victoria, city police Monday night raided the Sports Club, 654 Yates, and arrested 17 men.

In court yesterday one was charged with keeping a common gaming house; the rest with being "found-in."

Lawyer Lloyd McKenzie appeared for all accused, and requested a remand without plea to next Monday. He also asked that bail be set in all cases.

RELEASED ON BAIL

William Plotnikoff, charged with keeping a gaming house, was released on $250 bail. Charged as found-ins and released on $25 bail each were: John Meija, Thomas Scou-lar, Robert Brotherton, Anthony Hayward, Clyde Wood-burn, Boris Nizic, Douglas Winship, James Alfred Whan, George Hill, Matthew Mar-shal, Robert McNab, Bruce Lowther, Frank Mitton, Norman Balfour and Calvin Bruce Bayes.

BUSY MONTH

The raid brought to 35 the number of persons arrested on gambling charges in Victoria since July 1.

Of these, two charged with horse race betting offences pleaded guilty and were fined; and 16 Chinese are still before the court in connection with a police raid on a Government Street address July 16.

Commission Concerned

Parking Zones Shrinking Despite Need

Concern over a recent reduction in short-time parking meters available in the downtown area was expressed yesterday by Police Commissioner W. J. Hamilton.

"Quite a few of the 12-minute meters have been taken away from business corners and replaced by yellow-marked no parking zones," he said.

"I understand this was done as a safety measure, to improve visibility at the corners, but when cars have to stop for traffic lights in any way I feel this is a secondary factor."

"These 12-minute meters are very useful for shoppers and others wishing to make a quick stop. It seems to me the commission should ask the city public works department to consider replacing them."

TOO SCARCE

Commission chairman Mayor Percy Scourah and Commissioner Chet Dowman agreed that downtown parking space was becoming too scarce—there were "too many yellow lines and too-long bus stop zones."

With meter spaces further reduced, they foresaw business being encouraged to leave the city centre for outer shopping areas.

Commission took under consideration a request from Judge J. A. Byers of the Family and Juvenile Court that arrangements be made for a court officer to attend family sessions in the court.

Juvenile court sessions were looked after by juvenile officers, said a letter from Judge Byers; but there was occasional need for a police officer in family court and no such officer was now attending.

Planes in Hunt For Fugitive

WINNIPEG (CP)—A ground and air search is being concentrated in the area near Stony Mountain Penitentiary, 14 miles north of here, for a prisoner who escaped during the weekend by breaking through four doors and climbing an 18-foot wall.

Percy Moggey, 56, with a record dating back to 1924, was sentenced at Port Arthur in November, 1957, to a 10-year term for breaking, entering and theft and also for possession of an offensive weapon.

An RCMP spokesman said: "Moggey has used violence in the past and may again, now that he has his freedom."

Moggey, alias James Hamilton and James O'Brien, is described by prison officials as a "lone wolf."

Rebrin Case May Test John D's Bill of Rights

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Supreme Court of Canada hearing of the Irene Rebrin case could become the testing ground for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Bill of Rights.

At least, that's what lawyers for the attractive blonde lecturer were hoping Tuesday after another setback in their attempts to stop her deportation from Canada.

In a unanimous decision, three judges of the British Columbia Court of Appeal dismissed Miss Rebrin's appeal against a B.C. Supreme Court decision in favor of the deportation.

However, the judge agreed to hear an application by Miss Rebrin next Tuesday for leave to appeal their findings to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Gordon Dowling, CCF member of the legislature and one of the lawyers representing 33-year-old Miss Rebrin, said he hopes the Bill of Rights—now before Parliament—will be passed before the case reaches Ottawa.

"It may well be that the bill will somewhat alter this case if it carries the weight that the government says is intended," he said.

The appeal court judges—Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard and Mr. Justice J. M. Coady—held that the Immigration Act does not give Miss Rebrin at least one right claimed by her counsel.

Dr. M. C. Shumilacher of Regina argued in a three-day court hearing last month that Miss Rebrin should have been given the right to challenge evidence on which Immigration Minister Fairclough had obviously based dismissal of Miss Rebrin's appeal to the department.

He said statements in the House of Commons by the minister, who said Miss Rebrin was a security risk, made it apparent that such evidence existed.

Now Rocky Likes Nixon

Grin-and-bear-it-smile following his final withdrawal from Republican presidential nomination race yesterday turned into "grin-and-wear-it-smile" as New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller pinned on king-size Nixon button to support the vice-president, his one-time foe in contest for top spot. —(AP Photofax.)

Rocky Joins Nixon Camp

CHICAGO (CP)—Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller threw in the sponge and formally joined the Nixon-for-president camp Tuesday, carrying his 96-vote New York delegation to the vice-president.

The action eliminates any question of effective competition for the Republican presidential nomination and any doubt that the 47-year-old Nixon will become the party's presidential nominee on the Republican national convention's first ballot tonight.

Rockefeller, whose strong-minded views and determination to ram them through the convention was the major enlivening aspect of this meeting, said he reached his decision to back Nixon with the conviction that the convention's platform committee would adopt the basic philosophy of the agreement which he and Nixon mapped out together in New York last week-end.

Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, leader of the right-wing faction, bitterly condemned Rockefeller's persistence on Negro rights, saying Rockefeller would ruin the Republican party.

Rockefeller calmly replied that Goldwater's remarks showed how small minds think.

WORLD ELECTIONS URGED AS TEST OF COMMUNISM

Helping Hand

Ottawa Backs Cartels

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government proposed Tuesday to lend a willing hand to the formation of cartels and combines by Canadian companies trying to boost their export trade.

Viewing the move as absolutely necessary if Canada is to compete successfully with the Communist state-trading agencies, Justice Minister Fulton told the commons that if Canadian firms remain within the right to organize in export business they will be at an "increasing and permanent" disadvantage.

NOT TO CONVICT

The government move took the form of a proposed amendment to its anti-combines amendments, already before the commons. In effect, it tells the Canadian courts not to convict companies in cases where conspiracies and combines deal only with articles for export.

However, a second part of the proposed amendment makes it clear that the export conspirators will lose their anti-combines immunity if their deals result in a reduction of export volume, hurt a domestic competitor or restrict the entry of other companies to their field of business.

UNRESERVED

The Liberal Opposition gave the amendment unreserved blessing. J. W. Pickersgill (L. Bonaville-Twillingate) took partial credit for the idea, since a similar proposal of his was rejected a week ago when the anti-combines amendments were before the Commons banking committee.

CCF acceptance wasn't so quick. Frank Howard, member for Skeena who has been virtually alone in presenting the socialist party's views in the lengthy combines debate, reserved comment until he took a closer look at the proposed amendment.

Sky Spy Charge Rejected by UN; Reds Veto Probe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations Security Council Tuesday night rejected the latest Soviet spy-plane accusation against the United States. The Russians in turn vetoed an American demand for an impartial international investigation of the RB-47 plane incident.

Blunt Exchange Re-Opens Feud

OTTAWA (CP)—A new outbreak of the long-standing feud between Newfoundland and Ottawa Tuesday pitted Premier Joseph Smallwood against federal Finance Minister Fleming in a bluntly-worded exchange.

Pointing frequently down the Dominion-Provincial Conference table at Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the Liberal premier accused the federal government of repudiating a constitutional promise made when Newfoundland entered Confederation in 1949.

NOT OUTDONE

Mr. Fleming, not outdone in plain speaking, maintained that the federal government fulfilled and even went beyond the promises given Newfoundland.

Premier Smallwood said the federal move "appears to Newfoundland to be the most flagrant repudiation of a solemn constitutional agreement known to Canadian history."

RIGHT AND FAIR

Mr. Fleming said "it remained a matter for decision by the Parliament of Canada; and the parties (to the agreement) felt that the Parliament of Canada could be trusted to do what was right and fair."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia entered the fray briefly in the role of peacemaker to suggest that once agreement is reached for assistance after 1962 the federal government should appoint another royal commission to see that the agreement is carried out.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER ... challenger

Ike Dares Russia

CHICAGO (UPI)—President Eisenhower last night challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to a test of communism against democracy by holding free elections in every country of the world.

Eisenhower told the Republican National Convention that the Kremlin was flagrantly misrepresenting facts and bringing on one crisis after another in recent months, including missile threats.

EARLY CONFERENCE

The president said that he plans an early conference with congress parties on the recent events.

Subjects for discussion, he said, will include the wrecking of the Paris summit conference and Russia's shooting down of an American RB-47 bomber over international waters.

Eisenhower then hurled his challenge at Khrushchev: "The Soviet dictator has said that he has, in his recent journeys and speeches, succeeded in damaging the prestige of America."

MAKE THIS TEST

"Concerning this matter of comparative national prestige, I challenge him to make this test: Will he agree to the holding of free elections under the sponsorship of the United Nations—to permit people everywhere, in every nation and on every continent, to vote on one single, simple issue:

"That issue is: Do you want to live under a Communist regime or under a free system such as found in the United States?"

WORLD PRESTIGE

"Are the Soviets willing to measure their world prestige by the results of such elections?"

"The United States would gladly do so."

Eisenhower, who received a tumultuous welcome from a crowd of 1,000,000 Chicagoans earlier on his arrival in the city where he was first nominated eight years ago, had some blunt and hard words for those who have criticized the American defence effort.

STRONGEST POWER

"In the sum of our capabilities we have become the strongest military power on earth," Eisenhower said.

"But just as Job and his boils, so we have a cult of professional pessimists who, taking counsel of their fears, continually mouth the allegation that America has become a second-rate military power. "This extraordinary assertion amazes our friends in the world who know better; it even bewilders many of our own people who have examined our seven and half year record of military expansion and who are not used to hearing their gigantic defence efforts so belittled."

WITHIN MINUTES

Eisenhower said the United States has a jet bomber fleet prepared to take off within minutes and backed by a whole family of intermediate and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Little Boy, 'Parents' Gone

WINNIPEG (CP)—City police were asked by the Children's Aid Society late Tuesday afternoon to help locate a five-year-old boy and his foster parents who were not at home when authorities visited their residence to put the youngster up for adoption.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hallas have been caring for the Roman Catholic boy for the society since he was nine months old. Against the protests of the family, the society decided to take the boy from the Hallas family, who are Protestants, and allow a Roman Catholic family to adopt him.

STATEMENT MADE

Harry Yanofsky, counsel for the society, made the following statement Tuesday afternoon: "Efforts are being made to locate the Hallas. Then we'll remove the child with the assistance of the police. If necessary we'll get a warrant for the police to execute if they won't co-operate with us."

Circus Truck Crashes in B.C.

Escaped Leopard Shot as It Charges Trapped Man

MERRITT, B.C. (CP)—A leopard that escaped from a crashed circus truck with four other large cats was shot Tuesday as it charged a truck driver trapped in a gully.

James Webb, the driver, had chased the animal in a gully with several other men armed with nets.

When the animal leaped at Webb, circus owner Dory R.

Miller of Hugo, Okla., shot it and Webb was not hurt.

A wounded lioness which escaped after being shot in the paw and face was later circled in a grove and killed by a bullet from a police gun.

Two tigers and one lion were prodded back into cages by circus workers with sharpened poles.

The circus was the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. which toured Vancouver Island this month.

Glen Jarms, a circus employee, said the lioness had a bullet hole through her right front paw and buckshot pellets in her face and nose when she escaped.

She was shot when she tried to attack one of the escaped tigers. Her two cubs remained by the 45-foot-long tractor-trailer when it overturned near the top of six-mile Hambleton Hill. They were not injured.

Three men riding in the truck were injured, two of them seriously, when they jumped from the cab moments before the vehicle overturned in a ditch.

In "serious" condition in Nicola Valley General Hospital were David Luther and Earl Nichols. No report was made on the condition of the third man, Edward Schultz.

Cages holding a baby lion, two hyenas and a mountain lion remained intact but the others broke open on impact. Jarms said the brakes on the truck apparently failed as it descended the hill. Damage to the vehicle and the dead leopard is estimated by Jarms at about $25,000 to $30,000.

A second circus truck was in an earlier accident on the same hill. The truck jackknifed and plunged into a ditch. The driver was not injured.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has charged B. R. Miller, manager of the circus, with cruelty to animals.

The circus played in the suburban areas of Burnaby, New Westminster and Richmond last week.

SPCA director Tom Hughes said the circus failed to provide adequate accommodations for its animals.

"It's the worst case of its kind I've ever seen," he said. "They had three bears crammed into a cage only six feet square and a hippo was crated in a cage just a little larger than the animal itself."

City May Study Tax Loss from 'Capital Precinct'

A study to determine how much tax revenue Victoria will lose as provincial government development gradually fills the "capital precinct" behind the legislative buildings was suggested yesterday by Mayor Percy Scourrah. The Capital Improvement District Commission has asked the city to rezone the precinct, bounded by Belleville, Oswego, Michigan and Douglas, to bar construction of anything but single-family dwellings in it. That still leaves a comparatively large area for apartment house development in James Bay, and with the exception of one proposed apartment block on Kingston, I don't know of any applications to build apartments in the precinct area. However, as the government takes over more and more of the property in the precinct, it is going to pose a tax problem which in my opinion will have to be recognized by the government. It will throw an added burden on the rest of the city and to my mind it increases our argument that the government should pay municipal taxes the same as the Dominion government does and the same as some of the other provinces do. "We're glad to co-operate with the government in any way possible but I think there should be a survey made of the amount of tax revenue that would be lost to the city if and when the entire capital precinct is taken off the tax roll."

Birds Getting Even For City's Slight?

Perhaps under the mistaken impression that he had something to do with dropping Victoria's "Follow the Birds" slogan, the birds are giving city parks administrator W. H. Warren a bad time this summer.

A few weeks ago, Beacon Hill Park blackbirds were the problem. Across the road from the deer-pen, they were so aggressive that park staff had to wear tin hats. One swooped and pecked Mr. Warren on top of his unprotected head. Now it's the crows.

"We are having a lot of trouble with them along Dallas," Mr. Warren said yesterday.

"They're taking the garbage out of the garbage cans and scattering it in a 20-foot radius around each can every day. I don't know what we can do about it."

Greater Victoria is using 36,000,000 gallons of water a day but doesn't need to worry about it even if the weather stays hot and dry.

"Gosh, no," said Water Commissioner Ronald Upward yesterday when he was asked if the area might use up its supply in the remainder of the summer. "We hardly sold any up to the end of June, and I don't think we'll more than half empty the reservoirs."

Only danger, he said, would lie in a comparatively dry winter. A dry winter, combined with the present high consumption, could lead to a water shortage next summer.

Actually, Mr. Upward said, 36,000,000 gallons a day is a little below normal for this sort of weather. "It's better weather than in 1958, but water sales are lower."

Increased price of water in Sanich might be a reason for the below-normal consumption, he said, but "you could probably pick the reason out of a hat."

Orders Still Peddled

City Meal Tickets Off 'Exchange'

Welfare meal tickets aren't selling on the "Johnson Street stock exchange" as they did in March, city welfare administrator William Hoosen said yesterday.

In March, MLA Herbert Bruch told the legislature that professional beggars of Johnson Street were "taking" some of Victoria's charitable organizations and that meal tickets were selling for 10 cents each on the "exchange."

The meal ticket situation has been straightened out to some degree now with a system that makes it difficult to transfer the tickets, Mr. Hoosen said.

But he said some welfare

recipients still are "peddling grocery orders"—selling vouchers to a few store operators willing to pay cash for them, at a discount.

"It seems some people have no conscience," he said.

Big U.S. Carrier Isn't Coming

Scheduled visit of the giant U.S. Navy aircraft carrier Coral Sea to Victoria on the weekend of Aug. 19 has been cancelled, the navy said yesterday, because it can't be fitted into a crowded schedule.

Led to Safety by Hungarian

Fiery Death Cheated By Blind Woman, Son

Discovery Island Blaze

By TERRY HAMMOND

A 42-year-old blind Indian woman and her six-year-old son were saved from fiery deaths near Victoria yesterday when a Hungarian immigrant led them to safety through a flaming building.

The woman, Rose Williams, and her son, Gerry, were apparently unable to find their way out of the burning Discovery Island cabin in which the family lives each summer while caring for a flock of sheep which belongs to members of the Songhees band.

FLED HUNGARY

Otto Waitzner, who fled from Hungary following a people's uprising in 1956, was working some distance from the cabin on the estate of Capt. E. G. Beaumont when he was told of the fire at the north end of the tiny island situated about a mile off Oak Bay.

RUSHED TO SCENE

Rushing to the scene in his employer's car, he heard cries from within the smoking cabin and rushed in to find Mrs. Williams and her son groping for a way out.

Seconds after he led them to safety through clouds of suffocating smoke from burning sheep's wool the building flared into flame and was consumed in a matter of a few minutes.

QUICKLY SPREAD

The flames quickly spread to nearby grass and burned in driftwood along the beach. Langford forest service crews were rushed to the scene and removed the young, slightly singed and in a mild state of shock, to Royal Jubilee Hospital by means of a boat chartered from Oak Bay Boat House.

"HELP, HELP"

"I could hear them yelling 'help, help' when I got to the cabin," Waitzner told newsmen. "There was no time to save anything."

SMELLED SMOKE

Mrs. Williams said she was washing dishes and preparing the evening meal for her family when she first smelled smoke.

Her husband, Ned, and an older son, Henry, were fishing a short distance away but did not notice the smoke until after Waitzner reached the scene.

WOOL LOST

Mr. Williams said he lost 200 pounds of sheep wool, an outboard motor, 80 gallons of gasoline which was in a drum beside the cabin, plus all the family's clothes and a summer's supply of food staples.

"I am blind, I cannot see where the fire is," Mrs. Williams recalled afterwards.

TRIED TO HELP

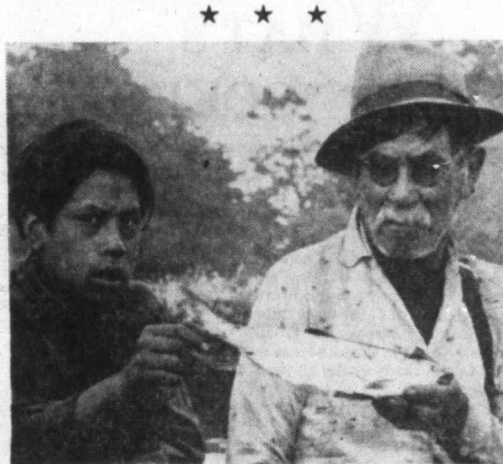

"Gerry tried to help me but we could not get out," she said. "His eyes were still red-rimmed from the smoke, but a stoic expression on her face, Mrs. Williams told how she had been blinded some 20 years ago by a dental infection.

"My eyes hurt all the time," she said.

LOST MACHINE

In the fire she lost her carding machine with which she turns out the stuff of which Indian sweaters and blankets are made.

Mr. Williams said he will move his family back to a cabin on the Esquimalt reserve of the Songhees band.

Grilse Extent of Food

Only morsel of food left to Williams family after blaze of undetermined origin razed their Discovery Island summer cabin yesterday was one-pound grilse which Henry Williams, 16, and his father Ned, caught a short distance away while the rest of the family barely escaped death.

Water Bomber At Sproat Lake Ready for Action

A B.C. lumber syndicate's huge Martin Mars water bomber lay poised at Sproat Lake on Central Vancouver Island yesterday ready to spring into fire-fighting action on 30 minutes' notice.

The plane, symbol of a $500,000 gamble by a group of lumber companies with extensive holdings on the Island and the B.C. mainland, still has not conclusively proved its effectiveness as a forest fire weapon, but B.C. forest officials were encouraged by its one-day performance on the Spui Creek fire in the interior last Sunday.

"It was doing very good work at Spui Creek but it only had a one-day run there and that's not a very good test," a senior forest department official told the Colonist. He said he believed the huge flying boat with its 7,000-gallon water capacity would increase in effectiveness as its crew became more experienced and its most effective role better known.

"These things take a little while with a huge machine like this," At Spui Creek, he said, the Mars was effective in "cooling down hot spots along the fire's moving perimeter."

But the official stated he did not believe the Mars' role would be extinguishing fires so much as helping to control them.

Shutdown Spirals Number of Jobless

DUNCAN — Unemployment in Cowichan has increased by 200 per cent due to continued hot weather causing woods operations to close.

National Employment Service officials said yesterday the figure at the end of June was 321 compared to 988 on Friday. All woods operations except several on the west coast are still shut down. All large logging mills at Chemainus and Cowichan Lake started again Monday after being closed for the last two weeks.

The B.C. Forest Service and large logging operators are maintaining small, standby fire warden crews. The NES office is preparing an emergency list of names for fire fighting.

cause work would not be completed until then. "Interest is running high on the other celebrations," said Mr. Sead. "There will be Shetland rides for children as well as mechanical rides." Other possibilities are bingo before an open-air dance and the sale of refreshments to benefit a fund being raised for a swimming pool.

Open house will be held at the Cowichan Leader Ltd., Duncan Iron Works, Cowichan Creamery Co-operative and the Vancouver Island Poultry Co-operative Association.

Date for the parking lot opening has been set back a week to Aug. 19 and 20 be-

Port to Offer Local Investors City's Own Bonds

PORT ALBERNI—Local investors will be given an opportunity in December to buy city bonds, but a $77,000 issue of local improvement debentures has already been marketed, according to a report from the finance committee.

Council endorsed the committee's action in accepting the offer of a price of $94.80 from McLeod, Young, Weir & Co. As the offer had been for immediate acceptance, the council sitting as a committee of the whole had accepted it.

The report explained that because of the depleted state of the city's cash position due to the increase in the amount of local improvements during recent years, it was proposed that such works should be financed in the year in which they were completed rather than in the following year as has been the custom in the past.

In order to correct the situation, it was decided to finance both the 1959 and 1960 expenditures this year. For the past several years the sale of debentures for local improvement purposes had been effected locally, but it was felt that the local market could not absorb two issues in one year.

The cost to the city of local improvement projects in 1959 had amounted to $77,000. According to the report, council members had been satisfied with the price offered by the investment firm. "This figure provides a yield to the investor of six per cent, reflecting a firming of the municipal bond market, as the local issue last December was sold at a price to yield 6 1/2 per cent."

The current year's local improvement debentures will be offered over the counter in December.

Circus 'Took' People

PORT ALBERNI — A suggestion was made at council meeting this week that residents and the sponsoring Lions Club had been "taken" by the operators of the circus which recently visited this district.

Ald. Douglas Mallory said that he understood that the circus had turned out to be something of a "skin game" and that, in future, investigation should be made at previous stands of travelling shows before permission is granted for them to operate in the city.

Ald. Earle Bowen, president of the Lions Club, confirmed Ald. Mallory's suggestion that all had not been as offered by advance agents of the circus. "We were prepared to be satisfied if we got half of what was offered, but not one-quarter was forthcoming," he said.

He said that Lions Club members spent half the afternoon seeing that the patrons received their correct change. Although it had not been possible to make enquiries in communities where the circus had given previous performances because the company had moved directly to Vancouver Island from Okla-homa, the sponsors here had passed their information along to Courtenay and Nanaimo where the circus went from here, Ald. Bowen said.

Parks Branch Shake-Up

PORT ALBERNI—This city's parks department will be reorganized and a parks superintendent will be employed, according to a decision made by city council.

The decision was reached at a recent committee meeting when increased activity in the parks department was discussed. The reorganization will result in abolition of the present position of parks caretaker.

The committee recommended that the new position be advertised and that preference be given to present city employees. The present parks caretaker will be given notice to vacate within 60 days the city-owned house which he occupies.

PORT ALBERNI — The present contract between the city and Alberni and District Civic Workers Union makes no provision for hiring, suspending, demoting or firing employees, it was disclosed during a recent conciliation hearing.

According to a report of the committee of the whole, preliminary discussion has taken place with representatives of the union with a view to writing in the changes.

Thomas William Morris

PORT ALBERNI — Funeral services were held in Knox Presbyterian Church Tuesday for Thomas William Morris, 80, who died at his home on Stirling Arm, Sproat Lake, on July 23.

Mr. Morris was born in Rowson, Argentine Republic, and had farmed for many years. He came here to live 23 years ago.

He leaves the widow, Mary Grace; two sons, Irwin Lloyd, Los Angeles, and Howell Teg-for, Yellowknife; four daughters, Mrs. Margaret Dorothy Crocker, Edmonton; Grace, Albina and Rosina Morris, Vancouver; two brothers, Michael and Dew, Vancouver; three sisters, Mrs. Moses Williams, Mrs. Ashley Golden and Mrs. Allen Blythe, all of Sa-

Seattle Kiwanians Inspect City Club's Homes for Aged

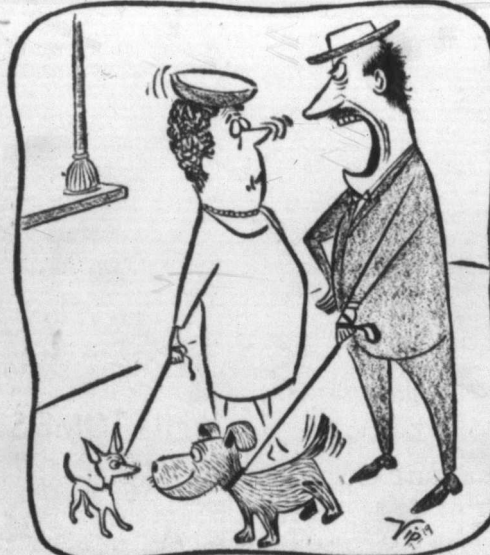

Five representatives of Seattle's Shoreline Kiwanis Club came to Victoria yesterday to inspect and hear the history of the Victoria club's shining example of low-rental housing for the elderly, Kiwanis Village.

"They have in mind the development of something along the same line," said Ronald Lochhead, vice-president of the Kiwanis Village Society, "and their reaction was very, very favorable."

Mr. Lochhead explained to them how the Victoria club had proceeded with the development from the first six units in 1952 to the present 50 units, valued at about $400,000.

They were also shown the site of the villa the Kiwanis Club proposes to build for single persons.

Alberni
Kangaroo Court Charged

ALBERNI—Mayor Mabel Anderson has accused aldermen of turning council meetings into a "kangaroo court."

The accusation came during this week's council meeting, after the mayor was relieved of the duties of chairing the meeting long enough for the three aldermen present to pass the minutes of the previous meeting as circulated.

MADE NOTES

Aldermen objected to changes which the mayor ordered in the minutes. Ald. George Dunbar said that he had made notes of the proceedings of the July 18 meeting and that the city clerk's recordings coincided with his notes. In spite of Mayor Anderson's ruling that he was out of order, Ald. Dunbar received support of Aldermen Fred Bishop and T. S. Barnett and the minutes were adopted over the mayor's objections.

The "kangaroo court" accusation was met with retorts from the aldermen that it was time for council to settle down to accomplish city business.

DISAGREED

Later in the meeting Mayor Anderson disagreed with her council on the matter of a request from G. M. Riste for further reduction in garbage rates at his business premises. An amendment to the garbage bylaw had been passed by council last year in order that an adjustment could be made at that time in favor of Mr. Riste.

Aldermen declared that the premises did not qualify for a further reduction of rates and that there was a need of retaining uniform regulations.

It was pointed out that there is a similarity between garbage collection rates and school taxes in that, although some taxpayers may not receive direct benefits, all must carry a portion of the costs.

Salt Spring
Dog Trials

GANGES—Salt Spring Island Dog Obedience Club is sponsoring dog obedience trials Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Fairfield Community Hall.

W. P. Evans of Ganges is president of the local club, which has just completed its first 12-week training course under trainer Mrs. A. Best of Crofton.

Dogs from clubs from Victoria to Alberni are expected to attend the trials. Judging will be done by Dr. E. Johnson of Maple Bay.

Razzle-Dazzle Sports
Set for Maple Bay

DUNCAN—The razzle-dazzle of the Maple Bay water sports—the day the town moves to the seaside—will hit a new pitch this year on Aug. 7.

Officials are planning for a full show of water skiing and ballet, official acceptance by the municipality of a swimming float and a lineup of competitive sports.

"We're hoping for a crowd of between 2,500 and 3,000 because of the interest that has been shown so far," said Nat Staples, sports committee chairman.

It is sponsored by the Maple Bay Yacht Club, and has been the most popular swimming event off and on for the last 40 years.

LARGE FLOAT

A member of the North Cowichan council will receive the ownership of the large swimming float that was jointly built by four service clubs.

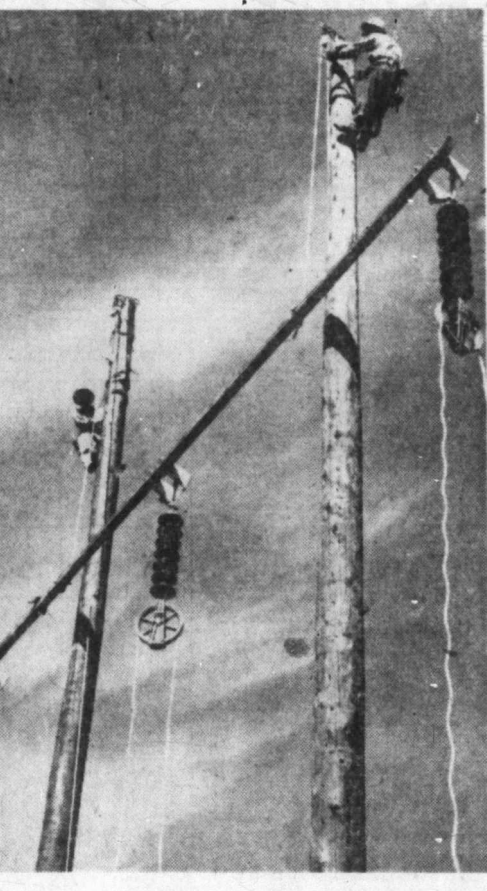

Main events will be the open mile race, held for a first time this year, and the race to Paddy's Milestone and back for swimmers 18 years and under. They will be run off at the same time, starting from the wharf at 1:30 p.m.

Eleven other races—including a pillow fight and an open relay—will start at 2 p.m.

Car Runs Wild
At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER—A car went out of control on 11th Avenue here, smashed down a wooden barrier, knocked three fences, knocked off tree branches, flattened garbage cans, hit a house and narrowly missed a child before coming to a stop.

The driver, Richard Bailey, 61, of Beal's Auto Court, escaped injury, but the car was badly damaged.

More Power for Victoria

More power to Greater Victoria will be carried over this 50-mile link with Stratford Crossing, north of Duncan. Power comes from the mainland via submarine cable. On the job, above, are Hume and Rumble employees John McMurtrie, Cowichan Lake, left, and Jack Baker, Deep Bay, north of Nanaimo. (Colonist photo by Charles Thompson)

Qualicum Beach
Jamboree Day
Huge Success

QUALICUM BEACH—Perfect weather and crowds in holiday mood combined to make a great success of the third annual Jamboree Day celebrations.

Bruce E. Welch, committee treasurer, reported gross earnings of $1,800 for the two-day event.

Highlight of the program was the one-mile swim, which was again won by 19-year-old Gordon Summers of Vancouver, who was clocked at 26 minutes and 5 seconds, to win the J. Craig Reid challenge cup. His time last year was 29 minutes and 51 seconds.

SECOND PLACE

Placing second and third in the senior division were Ken Willis, Courtenay, and Miss Uta Allers, of Nanaimo. In the Junior division, competing for the O. H. Rye trophy, Ron Hodgkinson of Courtenay came in first.

During the afternoon and evening, members of the Canadian Scottish regimental pipe bands from Nanaimo and Victoria performed.

Foot races for the children, rides and midway attractions added to the general carnival atmosphere. Climaxing the day was a fireworks display by the Qualicum Beach volunteer fire department.

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE

Committee in charge consisted of representatives from the Qualicum Beach Canadian Legion branch, Qualicum Fish and Game Club, Rotary Club, Knights of Pythias and Chamber of Commerce. Members of the fire department, the women's auxiliaries, Pythian Sisters, P.T.A. church guilds and others assisted at booths and concessions.

The driver, Richard Bailey, 61, of Beal's Auto Court, escaped injury, but the car was badly damaged.

Mayor Opposes
City Centre Plan
In Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—A plan, claimed by the sponsoring Downtown Merchants Association to be the answer to traffic problems in the city centre, was opposed, item by item, by Mayor Loran Jordon at this week's council meeting. However, the mayor expressed himself in favor of a meeting between council and the organization to discuss the proposals.

William Helen led the delegation from the newly-formed association which proposed that the plan be tried for a three-month period and, if found satisfactory, adopted on a permanent basis.

Proposed for the two blocks of Third Avenue between Argyle Street and Mar Street were: a 10-mile-an-hour speed limit; centre street parking; rescinding of the jaywalking regulations; closure to "commercial" traffic; closure to service trucks after 10:30 a.m.

CHIP TRUCKS

Ralph Schroeder, chairman of the organization's traffic committee, contended that commercial vehicles such as chip trucks and gravel trucks should be re-routed down Mar Street to Second and through to Kingsway. George Harris suggested that Second Avenue and Fourth Avenue could both be restricted to one-way traffic, one for northbound vehicles and the other for southbound.

The noise and speed of the heavy trucks were mentioned by Mr. Schroeder as a detriment to business on the main street.

CANT SEE IT
Mayor Jordon said, "I can't see the closing of Third Avenue to any traffic. I can't see centre parking on the street and I can't see the 10-mile-an-hour speed limit. I can't see that we have a parking problem now although we used to have, and I think that re-rout-

North Oyster
Benefit Set

LADYSMITH—Organizations in North Oyster and Cedar districts are pooling their efforts to stage a benefit dance at the Speedway hall Aug. 6 to help young Robin Jones of Cedar, badly injured in a motor accident early this year. After a long spell in hospital Robin is now home again; but will require medical attention and physiotherapy for some time.

YOUNGEST SWIMMER

Martin Ware, 11, of Qualicum Beach was the youngest swimmer in the race. Roy Parker manned the official boat, with Ray Fee as time keeper. Wendy Clay was the official life-guard. Other entries were from Wellington and Parksville.

Winners of the sand castle building contest included Grant Bestwick, John Gorosh, Jimmy McAlonan, Norman McMillan and Sharon Rye.

Warren Heard was chef at the salmon barbecue held during the day, with the Qualicum Fish and Game Club in charge of arrangements.

PIPE BAND

During the afternoon and evening, members of the Canadian Scottish regimental pipe bands from Nanaimo and Victoria performed.

Rebrin Case May Test John D's Bill of Rights

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Supreme Court of Canada hearing of the Irene Rebrin case could become the testing ground for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Bill of Rights.

At least, that's what lawyers for the attractive blonde lecturer were hoping Tuesday after another setback in their attempts to stop her deportation from Canada.

In a unanimous decision, three judges of the British Columbia Court of Appeal dismissed Miss Rebrin's appeal against a B.C. Supreme Court decision in favor of the deportation. However, the judge agreed to hear an application by Miss Rebrin next Tuesday for leave to appeal her findings to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Gordon Dowling, CCF member of the legislature and one of the lawyers representing 33-year-old Miss Rebrin, said he hopes the Bill of Rights—now before Parliament—will be passed before the case reaches Ottawa.

"It may well be that the bill will somewhat alter this case

If it carries the weight that the government says is intended," he said. The appeal court judges—Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard and Mr. Justice J. M. Coady—held that the Immigration Act does not give Miss Rebrin at least one right claimed by her counsel. Dr. M. C. Shumatcher of Regina argued in a three-day court hearing last month that Miss Rebrin should have been given the right to challenge evidence on which Immigration Minister Fairclough had obviously based dismissal of Miss Rebrin's appeal to the department. He said statements in the House of Commons by the minister, who said Miss Rebrin was a security risk, made it apparent that such evidence existed.

Now Rocky Likes Nixon

Grin-and-bear-it-smile following his final withdrawal from Republican presidential nomination race yesterday turned into "grin-and-wear-it-smile" as New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller pinned on king-size Nixon button to support the vice-president, his one-time foe in contest for top spot.

—(AP Photofax.)

Throws In Sponge

Rocky Joins Nixon Camp

CHICAGO (CP)—Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller threw in the sponge and formally joined the Nixon-for-president camp Tuesday, carrying his 96-vote New York delegation to the vice-president.

The action eliminates any question of effective competition for the Republican presidential nomination and any doubt that the 47-year-old Nixon will become the party's presidential nominee on the Republican national convention's first ballot tonight.

Rockefeller, whose strong-minded views and determination to ram them through the convention was the major enlivening aspect of this meeting, said he reached his decision to back Nixon with the conviction that the convention's platform committee would adopt the basic philosophy of the agreement which he and Nixon mapped out together in New York last week-end.

Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, leader of the right-wing faction, bitterly condemned Rockefeller's persistence on Negro rights, saying Rockefeller would ruin the Republican party.

Rockefeller calmly replied that Goldwater's remarks showed how small minds think.

Helping Hand

Ottawa Backs Cartels

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government proposed Tuesday to lend a willing hand to the formation of cartels and combines by Canadian companies trying to boost their export trade.

Viewing the move as absolutely necessary if Canada is to compete successfully with the Communist state-trading agencies, Justice Minister Fulton told the commons that if Canadian firms remain within the right to organize in export business they will be at an "increasing and permanent" disadvantage.

NOT TO CONVICT

The government move took the form of a proposed amendment to its anti-combines amendments, already before the commons. In effect, it tells the Canadian courts not to convict companies in cases where conspiracies and combines deal only with articles for export.

However, a second part of the proposed amendment makes it clear that the export conspirators will lose their anti-combines immunity if their deals result in a reduction of export volume, hurt a domestic competitor or restrict the entry of other companies to their field of business.

At Last! It Rained

After 38 days without rain, a light shower started falling on the Victoria area about midnight last night. Forestry officials were hopeful of more to come, to relieve the hazardous fire conditions existing in the woods.

JOSEPH SMALLWOOD

Blunt Exchange Re-Opens Feud

OTTAWA (CP)—A new outbreak of the long-standing feud between Newfoundland and Ottawa Tuesday pitted Premier Joseph Smallwood against federal Finance Minister Fleming in a bluntly-worded exchange.

Pointing frequently down the Dominion-Provincial Conference table at Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the Liberal premier accused the federal government of repudiating a constitutional promise made when Newfoundland entered Confederation in 1949.

NOT OUTDONE

Mr. Fleming, not outdone in plain speaking, maintained that the federal government fulfilled and even went beyond the promises given Newfoundland.

Premier Smallwood said the federal move "appears to Newfoundland to be the most flagrant repudiation of a solemn constitutional agreement known to Canadian history."

RIGHT AND FAIR

Mr. Fleming said "it remained a matter for decision by the Parliament of Canada; and the parties (to the agreement) felt that the Parliament of Canada could be trusted to do what was right and fair."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia entered the fray briefly in the role of peacemaker to suggest that once agreement is reached for assistance after 1962 the federal government should appoint another royal commission to see that the agreement is carried out.

Sky Spy Charge Rejected by UN; Reds Veto Probe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council Tuesday night rejected the latest Soviet spy-plane accusation against the United States. The Russians in turn vetoed an American demand for an impartial international investigation of the RB-47 plane incident.

The 9-to-2 vote of the 11-nation council against the Russian demand for council condemnation of the U.S. followed a vigorous American attack accusing the Soviet Union of attempting to spy on missile and other military secrets off the coasts of the U.S.

ONLY POLAND

Only Communist Poland voted with the Russians.

The Soviet Union also used its big-power veto privilege to kill a resolution to permit international Red Cross contact with two U.S. Air Force men held captive by the Russians since the downing of the American RB-47 plane by a Russian fighter plane July 1.

The Soviet Union cast its 88th and 89th veto in its history as a Security Council member.

DEBATE CLIMAX

The climax of the debate came when Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate to the UN, accused the Soviet Union of a long series of air and sea spy incidents, including an attempt to seize the test vehicle of a Polaris missile fired by a nuclear submarine off the Atlantic coast.

Lodge reserved his bitterest words, however, for the Soviet veto of an Italian resolution which would have called upon the Red Cross to make contact with the survivors of the RB-47. Two of the survivors are captives, three are listed as missing, and one died in the incident.

SAD THING

"That was a compassionate resolution," Lodge said, "and they turned it down. I tell you, it is a sad thing when a people as warm hearted as the Soviet people is represented by a government as cold-hearted, brutal, hard and cynical as they showed themselves to be tonight."

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER... challenger

Little Boy, 'Parents' Gone

WINNIPEG (CP)—City police were asked by the Children's Aid Society late Tuesday afternoon to help locate a five-year-old boy and his foster parents who were not at home when authorities visited their residence to put the youngster up for adoption.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hallas have been caring for the Roman Catholic boy for the society since he was nine months old. Against the protests of the family, the society decided to take the boy from the Hallas family, who are Protestants, and allow a Roman Catholic family to adopt him.

STATEMENT MADE

Harry Yanofsky, counsel for the society, made the following statement Tuesday afternoon: "Efforts are being made to locate the Hallas. Then we'll remove the child with the assistance of the police. If necessary we'll get a warrant for the police to execute if they won't co-operate with us."

Ike Dares Russia

CHICAGO (UPI)—President Eisenhower last night challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to a test of communism against democracy by holding free elections in every country of the world.

Eisenhower told the Republican National Convention that the Kremlin was flagrantly misrepresenting facts and bringing on one crisis after another in recent months, including missile threats.

EARLY CONFERENCE

The president said that he plans an early conference with congressional leaders of both parties on these recent events.

Subjects for discussion, he said, will include the wrecking of the Paris summit conference and Russia's shooting down of an American RB-47 bomber over international waters.

Eisenhower then hurled his challenge at Khrushchev: "The Soviet dictator has said that he has, in his recent journeys and speeches, succeeded in damaging the prestige of America."

MAKE THIS TEST

"Concerning this matter of comparative national prestige, I challenge him to make this test: Will he agree to the holding of free elections under the sponsorship of the United Nations—to permit people everywhere—in every nation and on every continent, to vote on one single, simple issue:

"That issue is: Do you want to live under a Communist regime or under a free system such as found in the United States?"

WORLD PRESTIGE

"Are the Soviets willing to measure their world prestige by the results of such elections?"

"The United States would gladly do so."

Eisenhower, who received a tumultuous welcome from a crowd of 1,000,000 Chicagoans earlier on his arrival in the city where he was first nominated eight years ago, had some blunt and hard words for those who have criticized the American defence effort.

STRONGEST POWER

"In the sum of our capabilities we have become the strongest military power on earth," Eisenhower said.

"But just as Job and his boils, so we have a cult of professional pessimists who, taking counsel of their fears, continually mouth the allegation that America has become a second-rate military power."

"This extraordinary assertion amazes our friends in the world who know better; it even bewilders many of our own people who have examined our seven and half year record of military expansion and who are not used to hearing their gigantic defence efforts so belittled."

WITHIN MINUTES

Eisenhower said the United States has a jet bomber fleet prepared to take off within minutes and backed by a whole family of intermediate and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Circus Truck Crashes in B.C.

Escaped Leopard Shot as It Charges Trapped Man

MERRITT, B.C. (CP)—A leopard that escaped from a crashed circus truck with four other large cats was shot Tuesday as it charged a truck driver trapped in a gully.

James Webb, the driver, had chased the animal in a gully with several other men armed with nets.

When the animal leaped at Webb, circus owner Dory R.

Miller of Hugo, Okla., shot it and Webb was not hurt.

A wounded lioness which escaped after being shot in the paw and face was later encircled in a grove and killed by a bullet from a police gun.

Two tigers and one lion were prodded back into cages by circus workers with sharp-pointed poles.

The circus was the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. which toured Vancouver Island this month.

Glen Jarms, a circus employee, said the lioness had a bullet hole through her right front paw and buckshot pellets in her face and nose when she escaped.

She was shot when she tried to attack one of the escaped tigers. Her two cubs remained by the 45-foot-long tractor-trailer when it overturned near the top of six-mile Hambleton Hill. They were not injured.

Three men riding in the truck were injured, two of them seriously, when they jumped from the cab moments before the vehicle overturned in a ditch.

In serious condition in Nicola Valley General Hospital were David Luther and Earl Nichols. No report was made on the condition of the third man, Edward Schultz.

Cages holding a baby lion, two hyenas and a mountain lion remained intact but the others broke open on impact. Jarms said the brakes on the truck apparently failed as it descended the hill. Damage to the vehicle and the dead leopard is estimated by Jarms at about $25,000 to $30,000.

A second circus truck was in an earlier accident on the same hill. The truck jackknifed and plunged into a ditch. The driver was not injured.

Meanwhile in Vancouver the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has charged B. R. Miller, manager of the circus, with cruelty to animals.

Large Cats Freed

The circus played in the suburban areas of Burnaby, New Westminster and Richmond last week.

SPCA director Tom Hughes said the circus failed to provide adequate accommodations for its animals.

"It's the worst case of its kind I've ever seen," he said. "They had three bears crammed into a cage only six feet square and a hippo was crated in a cage just a little larger than the animal itself."
